POLICE ISSUE WARNING TO HUNTSMEN

With the opening of the season on upland game today, the police desire to issue a little advice to hunters. This follows the voicing of complaints by residents in the Andover street district who reported to the police that early this morning numerous shots were fired in that section. Such the authorities state, is in direct violation of the law and they have asked the Sun to publish the following provision contained in section 1 of chapter 13, rules and regulations relating to firearms: "No person shall fire or discharge any gun, pistol or other firearm within the limits of the city, under a penalty for every such offense not exceeding $20." Several exceptions to this rule are based on authorized instances, such as lawful defense, military reviews and the like. The police state that they will enforce this law to the limit as the lives of the public are endangered when hunters fire at birds not outside the city limits.

HOW THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT WILL BE MADE UP

Powers of the Mayor to Nominate and Suspend Defined—Powers of the Council—The Board of Public Service May Be Removed by Vote of Council

The new charter is now the chief subject of discussion and everybody interested in our city government wants to know its precise provisions. There has been much confusion and even contradictions as to certain features of the charter, the mayor's power, the powers of the council and the functions of the board of public service.

It is assumed that most people are aware that the salary of the mayor has been fixed at $5000 a year and his term of office at two years.

The council will consist of 15 members, six elected at large and one by each of the wards. The annual salary for the members of the council is $3000 and the term of office two years.

The school committee will consist of nine members, all elected at large for terms of two years. No salary is provided for the members.

Power of the Mayor

The mayor can appoint the city solicitor and remove him at will without reference to the council. He will have to nominate three members of the board of health, three for the board of assessors, five for the park commission, three for the license commission, four for the election commission, five for the library trustees, three for the budget and auditing commission, three for the fire department.

Union Chiefs Say R. R. Strike Can Not Be Postponed, But It Can Be Settled

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The prospective railroad strike cannot be postponed, but it can be settled. This was the opinion of the four big brotherhood chiefs and the president of the switchmen's union, after a conference this morning at which, it was learned, they had considered all possible phases of the situation as they may be presented at the meeting this afternoon with the United States Railroad Labor board.

TO RESIGN FROM BOARD OF ASSESSORS

Chairman Jeremiah O'Sullivan of the board of assessors today confirmed the report that he would resign from the board before the end of this year. He has been a member of the assessors board for 12 years. His entire attention will be devoted to his law practice.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE

Mayorality, Alderman and School Board Candidates Take Out Papers

The advance guard of candidates seeking public office has descended upon the elections commission headquarters in city hall and the taking out of nomination papers by four men already indicates that the number to fight for office this year will be large. The office reports four sets of papers taken out since the acceptance of the new charter by the voters, two candidates for alderman, one for school committee and one for mayor being recorded. George Brown took out papers for mayor yesterday afternoon.

John J. Connors, 2 Summer court, has signified his intention of running for alderman from ward 1, while Thomas J. A. Dowd, 26 Chambers street will seek the election as an alderman from ward 4. John Perry, Jr. will be a candidate for the school committee.

It is expected that many papers will be taken out within the next few days. All nomination papers will have to be filed at the election commission's office before 5 o'clock on November 2.

Added to the list of commissioners mentioned yesterday as candidates for mayor is the name of Dennis A. Murphy. Mr. Murphy said today, "I do not know what my stand on the question will be. A number of my friends have been after me to climb the ladder. They have asked me to run for mayor. I have attempted to give satisfaction in public office during my term of years and the manner in which I have succeeded can be best judged by results obtained. I expect to make an announcement one way or another in a short while."

URGES UNIONS TO AVERT STRIKE

American R. R. Men's Association Sends Warning in Appeal to Unions

Strike Would Mean Extreme Poverty, Want and Suffering

Unions Urged to Call Off Strike and Accept Wage Reduction

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20.—The American Railroad Men's association, a fraternal and benevolent association, embracing 10,000 yardmasters, yard conductors and switchmen, today issued an appeal to all railroad unions to call off the proposed general strike and accept the wage cut ordered by the United States Railroad Labor board.

The union men were warned that if they strike, "arrayed against you there will be 100,000,000 men, women and children. The same railroad managements that now seem to deride public opinion would so mould and crystallize it against you as to overwhelm you and would use in their defense that same weapon which has been used against them."

The statement, an open letter to union men, was signed by Frank MacKut, Jr., business manager of the order. "A cessation of railroad work now would make more terrible existing conditions of employment and in its trend would follow extreme poverty, want and suffering," the appeal said.

PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY EXERCISES

Plans for Armistice Day exercises to be held by the local post 87 of the American Legion were submitted to Mayor Thompson today. The mayor approved the program in every detail and said he would do all in his power to make the exercises successful.

The program as announced is very appropriate for the occasion. One impressive part of it will be the two minutes of silent meditation for the boys who dropped out of the ranks during the honor of their country. Mayor Thompson has been asked to Continued to Page Eighteen

APPROVE LLOYD GEORGE'S PROPOSALS

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Proposals for the extension of Great Britain's trade credit system and for assistance in raising capital for industrial undertakings as measures for the relief of the unemployed, made by Prime Minister Lloyd George in the house of commons yesterday, have been well received by representatives of large industries. There has been little criticism of the details of the cabinet's plan and the scheme is regarded as sound and workable. Committees are being established to deal with the prime minister's proposals.

It is understood the government offered to leave the management of the credit system to leading bankers, but the latter decided it could be managed better by a committee which the governor this afternoon and discussed plans for providing food and fuel in case of a strike. The questions of price fixing, rationing of food, and other extreme measures were considered.

The committee consists of about 50 professional and business men from cities and towns throughout the state. It would work under the auspices of the overseas trade department. The bankers have given assurance of future assistance, however, and conferences held so far have been of the most cordial nature.

New York state has 203 daily newspapers, while Delaware has only 3.

The trial of John B. O'Dea of this city, a former prohibition enforcement officer, indicted on three counts for asking and receiving money with intent to be influenced in his official conduct, was heard today in the federal court, Postoffice building, Boston, before Justice Norton and a jury.

The prosecution was handled by U. S. District Attorney Robert M. Harris, and Assistant U. S. District Attorney William P. White, Jr., of Lowell. Defendant was represented by Daniel Shea and Leo Rogers of Boston, and J. J. Joseph Hennessy and Cornelius J. O'Neil of Lowell.

The indictment reads as follows: "With unlawfully asking Napoleon C. Rousseau the sum of one hundred dollars with intent to be influenced against investigating offenses against the national prohibition law; also, to have received the sum of two hundred and seventy dollars from Albert Allard with intent to have his decision influenced relative to an offense said to have been committed by Napoleon C. Rousseau in violation of the United States laws; also, to have asked Thomas P. Frenette the sum of twenty dollars with intent on his part to be influenced in his decision and actions in the matter of proceeding relative to a complaint against said Frenette, charged with violating the laws of the United States, relative to the prohibition of the unlawful manufacture, sale and possession of intoxicating liquors."

Rousseau First Witness

Napoleon C. Rousseau was the first witness called yesterday afternoon. He said that on Dec. 31, 1920, O'Dea went into his place of business at 45 Broadway street a new beer saloon, with Allard. Both men went into the cellar, and when they returned upstairs he saw O'Dea count some money and hand it over to Allard. Witness also testified that O'Dea told him he had something against him and wanted $200.

Rousseau, questioned by the U. S. district attorney, said O'Dea went into his shop Dec. 31, 1920. On Jan. 3 or 4, continued witness, O'Dea returned and said he had something on him and wanted $200 to fix it up. Rousseau answered that he did not have any money. O'Dea said he would return later.

Q. Do you know how much money O'Dea handed to Allard?
A. No, I don't.

STRONG CLUE TO BOMB MAKER

Letter Threatened to Kill Ambassador Herrick by "Scientific Means"

Writing Similar to That of Address on the Bomb Package

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Ambassador Herrick went to the American embassy, as usual this morning, little affected by his narrow escape yesterday when a bomb exploded in a room of his home in Avenue de Messine.

Mr. Herrick found scores of telegrams and letters of congratulation from officials and friends all over Europe. The first thing he did was to issue instructions that anyone desiring to give him a present must bring it opened to the embassy. All packages brought to the embassy will be under suspicion and will be opened under water in the presence of police.

The entire detective force of Paris and all available policemen under the personal direction of the prefect of police, worked throughout the night to trace the makers of the bomb. It was said a number of persons were under surveillance and that two clues formed the basis for further investigation.

Fragments of metal, of which the bomb was made, and an address on the corner of the box containing it are the only tangible clues. Bomb experts in the police department are trying to identify the small fragments to trace the source of the purchase of the infernal machine. Inquiry will be made in all the shops of Paris where bullets are sold. The experts believe the bomb contained a number of explosive bullets, and if the mark of manufacture on these can be discovered, this may lead to identification of the person or persons who made the purchase. Inquiry also is being made to determine whether the registered parcel was mailed in Paris.

The postman who delivered the package at the embassy and the district office from which it was registered, figured in the investigation.

Walter Blanchard, Mr. Herrick's valet, who was hit by fragments of the bomb, probably will leave the American hospital tomorrow as his injuries have proved slight.

The embassy was carefully guarded today by policemen and detectives and a stronger guard will be thrown around the building tomorrow, the day set by the communist press for a big demonstration in front of the embassy. Officials said today that the police would not permit any crowd to approach the embassy or to gather in the neighborhood, and also it was said that a mass meeting in one of the big parish halls might be suppressed.

"If the man who opened the package had not been a soldier in the late war, he would have been blown to pieces," a police official said this morning. It was admitted that these fragments offer scant foundation for the investigation as hundreds of thousands of bombs left from the war are scattered throughout Europe.

A couple of hundred threatening letters which had been received at the embassy and which have been turned over to the police, are now undergoing expert scrutiny.

The attention of the police has been directed toward a certain number of American citizens, who, although banished from France, are known still to be in the country. The first searches, however, it was said today will probably be made in anarchist and communist circles.

French experts examining the several hundred letters sent to the ambassador, today discovered one which they believe may furnish a strong clue in tracing the maker of the bomb.

The letter was addressed to the ambassador personally and was received on Oct. 14. It is said to have contained a threat to kill him by "scientific means" which the writer declared he had in his possession.

These experts today believed they saw a striking similarity between the handwriting of the letter and that of the address on the box which contained the bomb. The letter was written with pencil on cheap paper. It was written in French and in small, uneven letters.

At the top of the sheet were the words "Sacco and Vanzetti," in large letters.

The letter said: "As the representative of your country, you are a party to the persecution of Sacco and Vanzetti, and you are, therefore, jointly responsible for their execution. I have in my power scientific means of rendering you to the same destiny, together with your whole household."

The letter was signed: "A Scientific Man Who Will Work Alone."

WHO IS HE?

NEW PRESIDENT OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Lloyd George Settles Controversy—Is Disciple of Christ and a Baptist

ITHACA, Oct. 20.—Cornell university turned from its books, laboratories and workshops today, to inaugurate a new president, Dr. Livingston Farrand. The university had also prepared to lay the cornerstone of a new chemical laboratory, for which Charles M. Schwab, the steel master, gave $1,500,000.

Upwards of 125 universities and colleges sent representatives to Ithaca for today's ceremonies. Greetings from sister institutions of learning were extended by President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, for the colleges of the east and by other speakers from various sections of the country.

Dr. Farrand is the fourth man to sit in the president's office in Cornell's history. He was president of the University of Colorado from 1914 to 1918, when he resigned to enter the service of the International Nickel company, which waged grim battle against tuberculosis in France during the world war. At the conclusion of that struggle, Dr. Farrand became chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross.

Are You Running Down

and gradually losing your strength and vitality? Is your blood getting thin, and are you becoming nervous, and when you get up in the morning, are you as tired as when you went to bed? These are symptoms of neurasthenia, and deranged stomach. The frequent causes of this condition are overwork and worry.

First of all you must set your stomach to right, and correct the serious disturbances, such as indigestion, constipation, and at the same time flush the kidneys and make the liver active. To accomplish this result, you cannot take a more reliable and better remedy than the good old standby, SEVEN BARKS made from the extracts of roots and herbs. It has been recognized as a standard remedy for stomach, kidney and liver troubles for nearly 50 years.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less troubled by indigestion, constipation, liver or kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the wonderful results.

Get at the root of all stomach troubles by driving all poisons out of your system for good. You can do this by taking nature's remedy, SEVEN BARKS. One bottle at a small cost will prove its value. Ask your nearest druggist for it today.—Adv.

OXIDAZE

TABLETS. Made With Essential Oils For

Politicians — Auctioneers Clergymen — Lecturers Singers

Man Charged With Assaulting Tyngsboro Woman Is Arraigned in Court at East Cambridge

Alexander Simineau, of Lowell, charged with assaulting a Tyngsboro woman last summer, pleaded nolo before Judge Brown in the superior court at East Cambridge yesterday.

He was held for the grand jury by Judge Enright in the local court about a month ago. The trial was held yesterday, but Judge Brown reserved his decision stating that an indictment for a similar assault is pending in Essex county. After Simineau was arraigned here he was arrested by the Tyngsboro police and charged with attacking a woman in that town.

WOULDN'T ALLOW CHILD TO DANCE

Another child exhibition dancing act, the second within a month, was stopped by state authorities here last night. This time it happened during a dance at Lincoln hall where local Grady was advertised to appear in terpsichorean productions. Shortly before the exhibition was to be put on, however, Inspector E. J. Meehan appeared and informed Hall Manager Lyttell that Miss Grady was under the 15 years' age limit required by law, and that if he wished to avoid local difficulties he had better call off the scheduled feature. After a consultation between the mother of the girl, Mr. Lyttell and Inspector Meehan, it was decided to omit the dance.

A similar affair occurred at another dance hall several weeks ago, when Inspector Gilmore and Agent Richardson prevented another child from performing for the same reason.

CHAMBERS LINE UP FOR RAILROAD CRISIS

ABOUT THIS TIME O' YEAR

BY SATTERFIELD

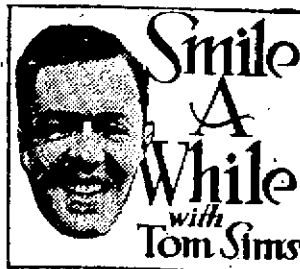

Definite plans were made yesterday by the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce to line up the resources of its ninety-two member organizations throughout the state in aid of the railroads, in case the threatened strike is actually called, and a letter was sent to Gov. Chandler D. Cox, at the state house, by Horace A. Carter, president of the chamber, informing the governor that the state chamber stands ready to render the most co-operation in this crisis and that each of its affiliated organizations is also ready to be used for local assistance throughout Massachusetts.

The offer of assistance to Gov. Cox was contained in the following letter: "We note with concern that a nationwide strike of organized railroad labor has been called to take effect with regard to the New England lines on or about Nov. 1. Should such a strike occur the resources of the state under your direction would undoubtedly be organized for the relief of the public and to maintain avenues of local transportation for essential commodities."

"The Massachusetts state chamber of commerce, through its executive committee and board of directors, stands ready to render you the utmost possible co-operation. We believe also that you may count upon each of the affiliated organizations for local assistance to any extent that may seem necessary. The officers and facilities of the state chamber are at your service."

DENIES REPORT OF NAVAL BASES

Great Britain Not Planning
Establishment of Bases in the Bermudas

Admiralty Official Declares
Reports Are "Pure Imagination"

LONDON, Oct. 20 (by the Associated Press).—Reports that Great Britain was planning the establishment of naval bases in the Bermudas, at Singapore or elsewhere, were termed "pure imagination" today by an admiralty official, who declared he was unable to understand what Premier Hughes of Australia was referring to in his recent speech on the subject.

A Melbourne despatch Wednesday reported Premier Hughes as declaring that the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the empire and that a decision regarding it was reached, but that the base would not be at Singapore. His reference to Singapore was taken as connected with rumors printed in London that Great Britain was preparing a new naval base in the Pacific and that it was intended to spend $2,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first class station. This was coupled with reports that the Bermudas were to be converted "into a first class base" which the Daily Sketch, in printing the reports, said, was suggestive of co-operation with the United States.

"We are spending no money on Singapore," was the admiralty comment. "There are no items in the admiralty appropriation for such purposes. Certainly nothing in that line will be contemplated, in the Pacific or elsewhere, at least until after the Washington conference."

The Daily Herald, the labor organ, says today that the admiralty told representatives of that newspaper that it had no plans for action in the event of a breakdown of the Washington conference.

"We are not sending more ships to China except the ordinary replacements after the ship has been a long time abroad," the newspaper quotes the admiralty as declaring in this connection.

How New City Government Will Be Made Up for the board of public service, five for the sinking fund commission and four for the cemetery commission.

It is provided in the charter, however, that members of the park commission, license board, election commission, library trustees and cemetery commission shall finish their present terms before any new nomination shall be made by the mayor.

The mayor will also have the power to nominate the chief of police and the chief of the fire department, both for three year terms, the purchasing agent, the city physician, the superintendent of charities, the city messenger, the superintendent of water, the superintendent of state aid, the inspector of buildings, city bacteriologist, smoke inspector, fish and game warden, inspector of animals, and pound keeper, all for two-year terms.

The sealer of weights and measures, moth superintendent, and the inspector of milk and vinegar will not be disturbed by the change in charter, as the legislature provided that they shall remain under civil service rules and be subject to removal only for cause in the usual way.

The mayor will nominate three members for the board of public service, one of whom must be an engineer of five years experience. The terms at first will be for one, two and three years respectively, and thereafter for three years.

This board will appoint a city engineer, the superintendent of streets and the superintendent of water works. These officials will be under control of the board of public service. This board may be removed at any time by a two-thirds vote of the council for cause, which that body may deem sufficient. The mayor has a veto power over the acts of the council which can be overruled by a two-thirds vote.

As to removals from office, the mayor can suspend the head of any department subject to the approval of the city council. The deposed official can apply for a hearing before the city council within 15 hours and the council by a two-thirds vote can sustain the mayor or reinstate the official.

The Council

The council has absolute power to elect the city clerk, treasurer and auditor by a majority vote.

The council is also vested with the power to remove any head of a department in spite of the mayor after such official has been given a hearing and the cause for his removal has been definitely stated.

If any nomination made by the mayor be not confirmed within 30 days, he may repeat it or make a different one for the office. But the same person must not be nominated more than twice in the same year for any office.

Selling Merchandise at Actual Cost

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Donald C. Moran, who escaped from Charles street jail in 1920 while under charges of stealing automobiles, has been captured in New York. Inspector Thomas Sheehan, head of the automobile department of the bureau of criminal investigation, furnished the information to the New York police that led to the arrest.

COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE

Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always shall. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PITTS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such a woman should follow Mrs. Pitts' advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and regain health. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., will send their Private Text-book, "Ailments Peculiar to Women," free upon request. It contains valuable information.

CONSIDER DOMINION RULE FOR IRELAND

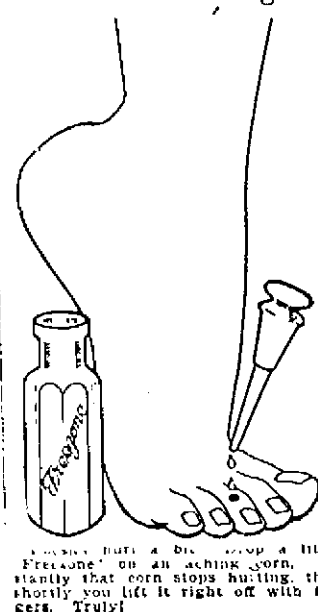

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George's decision to go to the Washington conference is having its effect upon the progress of the conference with Irish leaders, which has been in progress here for the past week endeavoring to solve the Irish question. Government circles yesterday expressed belief that the plan whereby the various points, particularly the conditions named in Mr. Lloyd George's Dominion home rule proposal, are to be referred to sub-committees, makes it quite safe for him to proceed to America.

No date has yet been fixed for the next meeting of the Irish conference.

UNITARIAN CHURCHES HOLD CONFERENCE

A discussion on "The Spiritual Involvement of Our Churches," treated from different viewpoints, was the feature of the fall conference of the North Middlesex district Unitarian churches, held yesterday at the First Congregational society, Chelmsford. The evening went on record as favoring the course taken by the Unitarian churches in reference to limited armaments and unanimously accepted a resolution forwarded to Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes expressing the conference's support at the coming national party at Washington. The resolution was offered by Rev. A. C. McQuinn, of Lowell.

Besides the regular clergymen of the district there were several ministers from other cities and towns who addressed the audience on topics relative to the church. The principal speaker at the forenoon session was Rev. Minot Simons, of Boston, secretary of the church extension department, American Unitarian association. Mr. Simons spoke on "Church organization." Other speakers were Rev. James C. Duncan, of Clinton, Rev. Otto Lyding, of Nashua, and Rev. L. L. Greene, of Chelmsford.

After luncheon the conference came together again and officers were elected for the coming year. Thomas H. Elliott, of Lowell, was re-elected president. Rev. George C. Wright, secretary, and Joseph A. Harwood, of Littleton, treasurer. William A. Lamson, of Lowell, was named on the Sunday school committee.

A roll call of churches, held in the afternoon, showed 157 lay delegates present and 17 ministerial delegates. Following a program of music and singing by the church organist and choir the day's discussion was resumed with Rev. A. L. Hudson, the speaker. Rev. Frank A. Powell, of Braintree, was another afternoon speaker. The conference came to a close at 3 o'clock.

LOWELL K. OF C. SCHOOL

Many Former Service Men Register — Classes Will Open in Near Future

The Lowell K. of C. school had its registration last evening in Associate Bldg. Enough former service men registered for the classes to insure the school of another very successful year. The classes will begin shortly. In line with its established policy, the Knights of Columbus school will be absolutely free to any ex-service man. All that is required is a discharge card from any branch of the service. Books and tuition are supplied by the order to such men. The classes will be conducted along the same lines as last year. In addition to last year's courses there will be classes begun in any subject in which the registration indicates sufficient interest to warrant beginning the course. The announced courses are: business English, business arithmetic, civil service in all its branches, bookkeeping, accounting, mechanical drawing and salesmanship.

An effort will be made to have the men who took Mr. Farrington's course in accounting last year continue as a unit and do advanced work. Likewise an advanced class will be formed in mechanical drawing with Mr. Flynn's class of last term as a nucleus. Beginners in mechanical drawing will be grouped together in a class. There will be classes formed for beginners in all the branches taught last year and bookkeeping which is new.

Registration will continue tonight and Friday at the office of the school in associate building. Wednesday evening's enrollment was in charge of Grand Knight John E. Hart and Past Grand Knight George Higgins.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The League to Enforce Peace yesterday elected Lawrence Lowell president to succeed Chief Justice William H. Taft and voted to hold a national convention in Washington while the armament conference was in session. The purpose of the convention, it was announced, would be to emphasize the obligations of the United States in establishing world peace. George W. Wickersham was elected chairman of the executive committee to succeed Mr. Lowell, who was appointed chairman of a committee to draft resolutions expressing the league's appreciation of Chief Justice Taft's efforts in its behalf. Jugoslavia is planning to electrify its entire railroad system.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. The calomel powder and the hot water have just dissolved them. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them open and unsightly—and unless the blackheads are big and soft they will not come out, while the simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition. You can get calomel powder at any drug store and if you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes you should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

Adoption of New Charter Clips School Board Members' Terms

EDWARD J. DONNELLY

JAMES C. WARNER

ALBERT BERGERON

Three members of the school board, Albert Bergeron, Edward J. Donnelly and James C. Warner, will be affected by the new charter inasmuch as their terms of service, like those of Commissioners Marchand and Murphy, will be clipped one year. Messrs. Bergeron, Donnelly and Warner were elected to the school board last fall for a term of two years, but their terms of office will cease as soon as the new charter becomes operative, in January.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

Some people, however careful in their diet, suffer after each meal because the stomach is weak and the food lies undigested.

Tone up the stomach and this trouble quickly disappears as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Nettie Almsworth, of No. 81 Elm street, Montpelier, Vt. She says:

"I became run down through overwork and suffered a complete nervous breakdown. My stomach disordered me after meals and I was in misery from flatulency and gas. I tossed about, sleepless, at night and was steadily losing strength and weight."

"A friend who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills following an attack of pneumonia recommended the treatment to me and I decided to give the remedy a trial. I took seven boxes to health. My nervousness disappeared and I now sleep well and eat without distress. I can't speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I owe my present health to them."

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price, sixty cents. Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free diet book.—Adv.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of control, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets right for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 50c.—Adv.

PEOPLE EATING

Turn to Concentrated Tablets—Easier to Take—Prove a Real Result—Quick

LOCAL DRUGGISTS NOW HAVE "VITAMIN" TABLETS

With the announcement that modern chemistry has produced a highly concentrated, easy to take tablet, containing a proper dose of Water Soluble B Vitamins, etc., thousands of people in this vicinity have taken up the Vitamin treatment for better health, constipation, pimples, boils, carbuncles, etc.

These Phos-Vitamin Tablets are swallowed with a mouthful of water after meal and do not upset the stomach. Are pleasant to take. Keep in mind that the Vitamin treatment results are quicker. Druggists praise this newer and better way. The name is Phos-Vitamin. Write for free pamphlet, or get a bottle of 60 Phos-Vitamin Tablets at the nearest drug store.—Adv.

How to Rid the Arms of Objectionable Hairs

(Aids to Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required. Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.—Adv.

FOUND THEM A GREAT HELP

Indigestion, biliousness, headache, bad breath, coated tongue, gas, or any condition caused by fermenting, undigested food can be relieved. Peter Landis, Meyersdale, Pa., writes: "I suffered many years and I can say Peter's Cathartic Tablets are a great help for constipation. TURNING OF THE TIDE

Coolidge Urges Crystallization of Spirit of Business Optimism

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—There is a definite turning of the tide in the business and industrial activities of the country, Vice President Calvin Coolidge said in a message to the Boston chamber of commerce, read at its opening assembly luncheon today. "This upward swing of the business pendulum is clearly defined to those who can read the economic signs of the times," his message said. "It is in the bank, the railroad, the postoffice, the mill and the field. And it calls for a spirit of optimism, and an attitude of self-reliance, forward-looking confidence on the part of the business men of the country."

"No section of the country is this of more importance than to New England. It is at once the duty and the opportunity of the business men of New England to crystallize this spirit of business optimism into the conduct of their affairs to the end that the entire economic life of the nation may be speedily returned to its rightful condition of prosperity."

The luncheon was the first in a series on the general subject: "The Turn of the Tide in American Problems."

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., was the principal speaker, discussing "Where Do We Go From Here?"

LOWELL SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

The Lowell Social Service league has had a highly successful year, according to the detailed reports of the past 12 months' work read by the general secretary, Miss Mary I. Reed, at the annual meeting of the organization held yesterday at the rooms of the chamber of commerce.

One of the features of the meeting was a lecture by Stockton Raymond of Boston on "The Place in the Community of Social Work for Families."

Mrs. A. C. McGiffert was elected clerk of the organization, and Harry C. Pollock, collector of the past year, was re-elected treasurer. The directors who are to serve until 1924 are as follows: Donald C. Cameron, Frederic A. Fisher, William N. Goodell, Miss Winnifred Haggerty, Nicholas Houplis, C. H. Hobson, Mrs. J. A. Nesmith, George Stevens, and Miss Alice Sullivan. The other directors, elected previously are: To serve until 1923—Rev. C. E. Fisher, D.D., Miss Harriet Coburn, Rev. Appleton Granville, Otto Heckmeyer, Miss May E. P. Lowrey, Robert E. Marden, Edward P. Slattery, Arthur T. Stafford, Mrs. John K. Whittier. To serve to 1922—Dr. G. Forrest Martin, John H. Murphy, Mrs. Louis A. Olney, Dudley L. Pace, Harry G. Pollard, Miss Emily Skilton, Mrs. Alvan Sturges, Miss Helen Tyler and Mrs. Arthur C. McGiffert.

The directors will elect the president and vice-president at their November meeting. Charles H. Hobson heads the league and Dudley L. Pace is vice-president at the present time. Mr. Raymond traced the history of relief work in Massachusetts and explained how it has developed. He declared that team work was necessary to have the various social service organizations of the country perform their best work.

Reports of the officers of the league were read and accepted. During the past year the department for family work has assisted 27 families. Seventeen were non-residents. There were 52 instances of unemployment where help was needed.

For 57 families the sum of $207.41 was expended, and for a permanent invalid $320.41 in addition. Clothing was given to several families. Fifteen families received dispensary care, and several were taken to the country for medical vacations. Court action had to be taken in behalf of seven of the league's clients. Numerous women have applied to the league for employment and have been assisted in securing work.

HEARING IN FATAL INJURY CASE

After hearing the case of Jeremiah Foley, deceased, brought by his widow against the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, insurer for the Lowell shops a tentative agreement was arranged subject to the approval of the industrial accident board. The hearing was before Frank J. Donahoe of the industrial accident board yesterday in city hall. Last February Foley was struck by a cable car at the Saco-Lowell mills. He lingered at a hospital and died in May. It is alleged his death resulted from injuries received at the mill.

WAS BRITISH BOMB

Authorities Probe Explosion of Infernal Machine in Herrick's Residence

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Police authorities investigating the explosion of an infernal machine in the residence of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, yesterday report that apparently a British bomb widely used during the war, was concealed in the package sent to the ambassador. It will be recalled that Mr. Herrick's valet recognized the sound given out by the package when it was opened as being that of a bomb, and that he was formerly a soldier in the British forces in France. No clue as to those who plotted to assassinate Mr. Herrick has been found, and fragments of the wrapper of the deadly package are being examined in the hope that it may be possible to trace its origin. It was badly shattered by the explosion, however, and there would appear to be little hope of detecting the criminal.

Paris newspapers today voiced horror at the outrage, and printed long accounts and photographs showing the wrecked room in the Herrick residence. L'Humanite declared that the police might use the incident in their campaign against Communism.

WAR ROMANCE

Lowell Girl Marries Member of Royal Air Force

The final act in a war romance was culminated last spring when Miss Marion C. McCord of this city became the wife of Capt. Harry W. Hewson, a member of the royal air force. While the ceremony took place April 13, in Boston, announcement of it was not made until yesterday.

Mrs. Hewson is a well known local girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCord, 4 Bertram avenue. She met Capt. Hewson a number of years ago and the friendship of his frequent visits to this city soon ripened into love.

Throughout the world war the friendship continued and as soon as Capt. Hewson obtained a leave of absence the couple were married. He is at present serving with the royal air force in India. Mrs. Hewson expects to join him there soon.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Rowe, of 213 Lawrence street, were pleasantly surprised by friends at their home Monday evening on their silver wedding anniversary. The house was prettily decorated with white and silver autumn leaves, and cut flowers. Dinner was served and an enjoyable evening was spent. Several piano selections were given by Mrs. Casper Hubbard of Wells, Me., and Mr. William Greenwood sang a few solos. A feature of the evening was a mock-wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother: You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Serious Disorders In Lisbon

BADAJQZ, Spain, Oct. 20.—Serious disorders attended the military movement against the Portuguese government, which broke out in Lisbon on Wednesday it is said in a despatch received here. The trouble began when a café was closed, citizens and the republican guard coming into collision. In the ensuing demonstration, there was considerable rifle and revolver firing. Sailors became involved in the street fighting, wounding a number of persons. Students and the police also came to blows and many were injured. Numerous arrests were made.

War Dept. Plans Auction of

70 Real Estate Tracts—

Salisbury Beach To Go

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The war department is preparing to sell at auction more than 70 real estate tracts over the country, regardless as to whether the land is now in military use or not. The list also includes a number of old-time fort and military post sites.

Among the latter is all of the Fort McHenry (Md.) reservation with the exception of a plot to be retained as the site for a monument to Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Tracts to be sold include the following in the first corps area: Maine—Fort Baldwin, Edgecomb. Knox—George Machias, Madison. Me. Chary (16 acres only); Popple, Crow island, Kennebec arsenal, St. Georges. Sugar Loaf island, north and south. Massachusetts—Gloucester gun-house, Natick rifle range, Salisbury beach, Fort Pickering, Sewall, Lee and Old Fort Standish.

New Hampshire—Portsmouth gun-house and reservation. Rhode Island—Fort Green and Mansfield. Connecticut—Fort Griswold and Hale and Lighthouse Point.

COMMUNITY WORK DAY PLANNED

The Chelmsford A.A. baseball team, which has been winning games all summer and nearly clinched the championship of the five-town district, will play a "community work day" next Saturday afternoon, when the work of grading the high school athletic field will be completed. The baseball team's action is due to the stopping of the work by the town when the appropriation became exhausted.

Saturday the Chelmsford A.A. and leading citizens will provide horses and wagons, and, with plenty of help offered, the work of grading the new field will probably be finished so that next spring everything can be cleaned up and athletic events held on the playground.

All Chelmsford citizens are invited to the "field day" and have been asked to bring along shovels, hoes and rakes. Saturday afternoon, for the task at hand.

COPIES OF CHARTER MAY BE PRINTED

There are no copies of the new charter available at the present time, but it was stated today that the charter commission will request the municipal council to have copies of the document printed for distribution. There was a balance of $157 left over from the commission's appropriation, and it is suggested that that amount be appropriated for the purpose in question.

TANLAC—FEELS FINE

—STILL GAINING

"Several times I was told I had but a few weeks left on this earth, but here I am, hale and hearty, and feeling fine, and Tanlac alone is responsible for it," was the truly remarkable statement made by Adelard Fraser, 45 Gorton st., Providence, machinist for the New England Butt Machine Co. for the past 15 years.

"I had been suffering from stomach trouble for 20 years and had become so thin that I was little more than skin and bones. Why, I had fallen off from one hundred and forty-five to only ninety pounds in weight, and just felt like I was dying by inches. For the past several years I lived on nothing but gruel, and even then I was suffering. My nerves were shattered and I could not sleep. I paid out more than $1500 in an effort to get relief and became so discouraged that I just quit trying."

"However, Tanlac finally came my way, and I think it deserves a gold medal for what it is doing for suffering humanity. Why, six bottles have cured me almost completely. I am now eating almost enough for two men, have built me up to one hundred and twenty pounds in weight, and I am still gaining. I sleep like a top at night, and am so full of new life and energy I feel like getting out and running a foot race. Tanlac has simply been a godsend to me in restoring my health."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special representative by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

WHEN HAIR THINS, FADES OR FALLS, USE "DANDERINE"

35 cents buys a bottle of "Danderine." Within ten minutes after the first application you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping your hair to grow long, thick and luxuriant.

Girls! Girls! Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, thin, scraggy. A single application of delightful Danderine will double the beauty and radiance of your hair and make it look twice as abundant.—Adv.

COLLEGE BARS "SHEBA"

MISS TERRY DIETLE, COLLEGE BEAUTY, WHO HAD BEEN CAST IN TITLE ROLE FOR "QUEEN OF SHEBA" IN BARRED UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA DRAMA.

By N.E.A. Service
BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 20.—"The Queen of Sheba" has been dethroned as this year's production of the University of California English club. It has been decreed by the college authorities that there are certain characters and plots of the drama that, no matter how historically correct, are "dangerous" to the morals of students. In other words, Sheba's queen is considered "too naughty" for a pretty co-ed to portray, and "unsuitable for college purposes." The young "intellectuals" have nothing to do but search for a new vehicle, although some of the proponents of the discarded drama have taken the stand that they have "passed the prudish period" and were merely trying to keep up with the tendency of the times in their selection.

STUDENT CONVOCATION INJURIES PROVE FATAL ON DISARMAMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Representatives of 700 colleges and universities and more than 1500 secondary schools are to be invited to attend a national student convocation on disarmament in Chicago, Nov. 13 and 14, says an announcement today by the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The convocation, the announcement says, is sponsored by 22 organizations comprising the boards of education of Protestant churches affiliated with the council of church boards of education, the bureau of education of the Catholic hierarchy, the educational section of the conference of American Rabbis and the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations.

The purpose is to give the agencies of higher education in the United States an opportunity to form and express opinions on disarmament.

George Hatch Dies as Result of Injuries Received in Collision

As the result of a fractured skull and other injuries received Sunday afternoon, when a motorcycle he was driving collided with an automobile driven by Bernard McDermott, of Cambridge, on Gorham street beyond the city line, George Hatch of 42 Main st., 45 years of age, died at St. John's hospital early last night.

Late Sunday afternoon McDermott was driving out Gorham street toward Billerica. He had just passed an automobile in upper Gorham street when Hatch came along in the opposite direction, crashing head-on into the automobile. Hatch was thrown to the roadway and sustained a fracture of the skull, a compound fracture of the left leg and several other external injuries. He was promptly carried to St. John's hospital, where he passed away about 6 o'clock last night.

Mr. Hatch has been residing in Lowell for the past 24 years. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. (Kennedy) Hatch, three daughters, May, Agnes and Margaret, four sons, Charles, John, Fred and Thomas, and one brother, Bert Hatch of Ayer. The body was taken to the rooms of Undertaker M. J. McDonough, South street, and was removed today to the home of deceased in Main street.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE KITH'S THEATRE

Hope Eden is catching their eyes and holding their attention at the Kith Theatre as few performers have done in the past. A singularly attractive young woman, she goes through a routine of mental tests through all astonish even the most blasé of theatregoers. With Prescott as the introducing agent of the act, she stands out as wonderfully magnetic. Another specially good act for the week is that of Jean Grane and her brother Charlie, who present a singing and comedy turn of merit. Their theme is the Belgian rose, a novelty, and one which will cause surprise. Other good things of the program are: Fred and Marjorie, Dale, Curleton & Tate, and Archibald & Venus. On Friday afternoon following the regular performance, Miss Eden will hold a session for women alone.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The Merrimack Square theatre management has arranged a program of super-attractions for the week-end. "The Courtship of Miles Standish," based on Longfellow's immortal poem, direct from its phenomenal run at the terecentary celebration at Plymouth, is the feature offering. A special program is being given before each performance with the Indians who took part in the Plymouth celebration, playing the various roles. On Saturday morning a special performance will be given for the children and each child attending will receive a special balloon free. "Indiscretion," starring Florence Reed, is the second big feature of the current program.

RIALTO THEATRE

A complete change of program goes on at the Rialto theatre this afternoon with the introduction of two feature pictures, "Lucy Cotton in 'Whispering Shadows,'" and Colleen Moore in "The Sky Pilot." The program also carries an Educational comedy, "Short and Snappy," and an up-to-date set of Klugeans.

"The Sky Pilot" is adapted from Ralph Connor's story and was directed by King Victor. "Whispering Shadows" is a delightful up-to-the-minute drama on a subject in which the American people are vitally interested.

The crowds now visiting the Rialto are appreciative of the fact that the theatre has settled its differences with the union, and make that fact known by congratulating Manager Prager for the conciliatory movement.

Next week, beginning Monday, the Rialto will have Anita Stewart in "Sowing the Wind," and beginning Thursday Pola Negri will star in "Gypsy Blood."

THE STRAND

Those who are partial to one dramatic work, the very best that the screen affords, will be pleased to learn that William Farnum opens a new play of domestic life, called "His Greatest Sacrifice," at the Strand beginning today. The story is a gripping, tense one, that deals with the play of a wife determined to adhere to the plaudits of the public at a sacrifice of the love of her husband and child. When she has started out on her career, her husband is just beginning to make advances as a writer. But the wife ignores this and in her ambition cuts loose with her husband and child. She wins fame, but in the end she longs for what she has willfully cast away—the love of these two.

Mario Prevost in "Moonlight Follows" is sure to give genuine entertainment to the fans. King Baggot directed the piece and Miss Prevost, the former dainty, fascinating leading girl, is seen in a most amusing role. The picture has all of the satisfying elements to make it extremely popular. Don't miss seeing it. The manager of the program is rounded out with a comedy and an international weekly.

PUFFER-HAZZARD CASE

In the equity suit of Mabel E. Puffer of Ayer against Arthur G. Hazard and others, arguments were heard yesterday by the full bench of the supreme court. Miss Puffer is seeking the return of money and property given the defendant while she was in the C. Under the delusion, it is alleged, that she had received a message from her husband, who had been injured by may Charles McKee, an imaginary person, she asked Hazard to marry her. The couple journeyed to Concord, N. H., but were not married. Miss Puffer is alleged to have given Hazard $2500 and considerable jewelry.

PLAN TO RELIEVE TRAFFIC CONDITIONS IS NOMINATED FOR RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

License Commissioner George E. Putnam suggests an interesting plan which would serve a two-fold purpose by relieving the unemployment situation with which the authorities are at present trying to cope and ameliorate traffic conditions in the downtown district. Mr. Putnam's proposal involves the extension of Palmer street through to Middlesex street, and the continuation of Davidson street to Andover street along the Concord river bank. The commissioner believes that this proposition would please the local public, and solve a problem which is growing yearly more serious.

The commissioner argues that Central street is unduly congested at present, and something should be done to relieve the handicap imposed on auto transportation. Under the prevailing conditions, in the late afternoon it often takes from 15 to 30 minutes to drive from Middlesex street to Merrimack, through Central. "Who many machines parked along the sides of the street only aggravate the situation. As Central street cannot be widened and cars must be parked in some place, it is hard to find a solution to the difficulty."

The opening of another street from Merrimack to Middlesex street, parallel to Central, seems to be the key to the situation; hence, the idea of extending Palmer street. This proposition would meet with many obstacles, such as mill buildings, stores and residences, but the benefits derived, Mr. Putnam believes, would outweigh the objections.

The extension of Davidson street as far as Andover street along the river bank would enable motorists to drive through Church street and reach the southern section of the city without going through Central street, another aid to the relief of traffic congestion.

Besides solving a problem which is puzzling traffic managers and automobilists, said Mr. Putnam, these improvements would give employment to a large number of men, relieving to some extent the unemployment situation now existing.

Mr. Putnam would like to have his scheme considered by the recently appointed unemployment committee, and hopes for their favorable consideration, inasmuch as it would not only relieve the traffic situation but also assist the unemployed and their families.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Elliot D. Hutchinson, the son of Rev. Oliver W. Hutchinson of 59 Grove st., is among the Harvard students nominated for a Rhodes scholarship by President Lowell of Harvard. Mr. Hutchinson prepared for college at Dorchester high school and is now a sophomore at Harvard. Dec. 3, when the Rhodes state committee meets, the final choice will be made. The committee will elect one from those who were nominated for the scholarship from Massachusetts. An undergraduate who secures a Rhodes scholarship attains one of the highest honors possible to get. Cecil Rhodes, the famous English builder, started the Rhodes scholarships. He left an enormous fortune, the income from which keeps a Oxford university, England, two American students from each state in the country. The provisions of the scholarship in the Rhodes will are that the American students must have spent two years in an American university and must show proficiency in athletics as well as in studies. Evidence of a strong character must also be shown by the candidates. The scholarship is good for two years and allows the student nearly $1500 a year.

aid to the relief of traffic congestion. Besides solving a problem which is puzzling traffic managers and automobilists, said Mr. Putnam, these improvements would give employment to a large number of men, relieving to some extent the unemployment situation now existing.

Mr. Putnam would like to have his scheme considered by the recently appointed unemployment committee, and hopes for their favorable consideration, inasmuch as it would not only relieve the traffic situation but also assist the unemployed and their families.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Elliot D. Hutchinson, the son of Rev. Oliver W. Hutchinson of 59 Grove st., is among the Harvard students nominated for a Rhodes scholarship by President Lowell of Harvard. Mr. Hutchinson prepared for college at Dorchester high school and is now a sophomore at Harvard. Dec. 3, when the Rhodes state committee meets, the final choice will be made. The committee will elect one from those who were nominated for the scholarship from Massachusetts. An undergraduate who secures a Rhodes scholarship attains one of the highest honors possible to get. Cecil Rhodes, the famous English builder, started the Rhodes scholarships. He left an enormous fortune, the income from which keeps a Oxford university, England, two American students from each state in the country. The provisions of the scholarship in the Rhodes will are that the American students must have spent two years in an American university and must show proficiency in athletics as well as in studies. Evidence of a strong character must also be shown by the candidates. The scholarship is good for two years and allows the student nearly $1500 a year.

LAY PLANS TO MEET STRIKE

Eastern Railroads Not to Wait for Outcome of Chicago Conference

Continue Preparations as if They Expected Failure of Efforts to Avert Strike

Advertisements Calling for Help Prepared by All Roads Centering in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Proceeding as if they expected failure of the railroad labor board in its efforts to prevent the threatened railroad strike by a conference in Chicago today with "Big Five" brotherhood chiefs, members of the eastern presidents' conference met here today to lay plans

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in the air passages. It promptly loosens dry, tight coughs, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

for meeting the strike on eastern and New England roads. Although they professed to see some hope of peace through the labor board's efforts, the railroad heads declared that with strike orders already issued, they could not afford to delay their plans to see what the Chicago conference would bring forth.

Meetings of the General Managers' association and the Association of Railway Executives also were scheduled.

Advertisements calling for men to take the place of possible strikers have been prepared by all the railroads centering here and these, it was reported, would be given to newspapers during the day.

Several of the railroads have sent out circular letters to their employees urging the men to think carefully before they join the proposed strike and not be "misled in this matter." One of these letters, after reciting advantages of employment on that line, inquired:

"Are you going to give up all this, your record and your seniority, at the behest of men who are going to be unable to find you another job to take the place of the one you now have? Remember, they can order you out—but can they order you back?"

The letter concluded with an argument that the strike was not against the railroads, but against the government as represented by the railroad labor board.

O. H. Braese, vice president of the American Train Dispatchers' association, announced last night that the dispatchers would take no part in the proposed strike. The statement followed a conference with dispatchers of the eastern district at which, Mr. Braese said, the sentiment against a walkout was unanimous.

"That is no sign that we are condemning the attitude displayed by the other brotherhoods, however," he added.

OFFICIALS OF VERA CRUZ ENJOINED

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 20.—Officials of the state of Vera Cruz were enjoined from interfering with the operations of the Aguila Oil Co., a British concern, yesterday, by the Mexican supreme court.

Efforts by the corporation to have lifted the embargo which was recently imposed by Vera Cruz state authorities to insure the payment of back taxes were sustained by the court.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William F. Foley and Miss Helen M. Diney were married late yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed at St. Michael's rectory at 5.30 o'clock by Rev. Francis Mullin.

Mr. George H. Foley acted as best man, while the bridesmaid was Miss Anna L. Callary. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 35 Diney street, Dracut, and later the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Philadelphia. After Nov. 1 they will be at home to their friends at 35 Diney street, Dracut.

Scanlan-Brown

The marriage of Mr. James J. Scanlan and Miss Lillian S. Brown took place yesterday afternoon at St. Columba's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. James Somers. The best man was Mr. Thomas Scanlan, while the bridesmaid was Miss Violet M. Brown. The couple will make their home at 25 Chase avenue.

Russell-Fox

At the Central M. E. church last evening, Mr. Edward G. Russell and Miss Pearl B. Fox were united in marriage, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Leslie G. Boakes. The couple, who were unattended, will make their home in Lawrence.

Ellis-Regan

At 6 o'clock last evening Mr. Melvin Ellis and Miss Evelyn Estelle Regan were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at St. John's church by Rev. James Baneroff. The bridesmaids were as follows: Miss Grace Gordon, Miss Christine McPherson, Miss Audrey Hardy of New Bedford and Miss Elizabeth Gordon. The best man was Mr. George Byam. A reception followed the ceremony and later in the evening the couple left on an extended honeymoon trip.

Johnson-Thornhill

Mr. Ernest Eric Johnson of Wakefield and Miss Adelaide Alice Thornhill of Methuen were married Tuesday by Rev. Henry A. Cornell, the ceremony being performed at his home, 21 Blossom street. After a brief honeymoon trip to New Hampshire the couple will make their home in Methuen.

Miss Gertrude Egan of Memphis, Tenn., were married yesterday at Memphis, the ceremony being performed at St. Peter's church in Memphis. Mr. James A. Burke of Holyoke was best man, while Miss Wilhelmina Walder of Louisville, Ky., was bridesmaid. The couple will make their home in this city.

TO ADMIT SUGAR

DUTY FREE

HAVANA, Oct. 20.—Admission to the United States, duty free, of a maximum of 2,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar, yearly, for three years in return for the free entry into Cuba of "products of the soil and industry of the United States," is proposed in a joint resolution introduced today in the house of representatives. Action on the resolution went over until next Monday.

If the commercial treaty under which this exchange of commodities would be permitted is not ratified within eight months after negotiations are begun, the resolution would authorize the executive department to initiate proceedings to denounce the existing reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States, which became effective Dec. 27, 1903.

THE CANDIDATES

Now that the new charter has been adopted, the discussion of candidates has already started, and many orally possibilities have come into the field. The voters of Lowell, however, should make up their minds to support only capable men for that high office; men against whom there is no word of reproach and whose capability to discharge the important duties to be attached to the office under the new charter, cannot be questioned.

The Sun has stood out firmly against the charge that the people do not want good government and will not vote for capable men for public office. We have held that under the commission charter, the will of the people was defeated and that they were not given a fair opportunity to select their candidates of their choice. We feel that the new charter will remedy this defect and we, therefore, expect to see a greater proportion of the municipal council made up of men of wide experience in business affairs. We also expect to see none but eminently capable men elected to the high office of mayor. It is a duty incumbent upon the voters under the new charter conditions to support only the best men, in filling all the elective offices of the city government.

There should be equal care exercised in the selection of candidates for the school board. It should be remembered that because an undesirable candidate seeks an office and goes about making speeches, that fact does not justify the voters in supporting him. If he is not a fit or desirable candidate for the position.

It has been said that municipal government depends more upon the men selected than upon charters; and it is a fact that the best charter will show poor results unless the proper men be selected to carry out its provisions, and on the contrary the worst charter may serve fairly well if capable men are chosen under it. But a bad charter with poor officials is a combination intolerable.

It is necessary that the voters should be made quite familiar with the entire provisions of the new charter; and for that purpose we believe it is desirable that copies should be printed for distribution.

THE PEACE TREATIES

At last, nearly three years after the close of the war, the United States senate has ratified treaties of peace with Germany, Austria and Hungary, the European powers against which we declared war in 1917, which was concluded November 11.

The final ratification of these treaties puts aside very emphatically the League of Nations covenant embodied in the treaty of Versailles.

There was considerable discussion in the senate over the scope and effectiveness of these separate treaties; but eventually they were ratified each in turn by a large majority; in which 14 democrats joined the republicans, while two republicans, namely Borah and La Follette, voted against the treaties.

Various senators raised objections to the treaties lest they could be construed as recognizing or assenting to the provisions of the Versailles treaty; but it was shown that already that treaty has been recognized by the expressed contention of the United States to take part in the work of the reparations commission, provided for in that treaty.

While many reservations were proposed, only two were adopted. One senator offered as a substitute the treaty of Versailles with the Lodge reservations attached and Senator Lodge himself was the first to raise a point of order and urge the defeat of this resolve.

One of the reservations adopted reserves to congress the power to control American participation in the reparations commission under the Versailles treaty. This will require an act of congress authorizing the appointment of an American representative which will have to be submitted to the senate for confirmation. The other reservation is designed to prevent Germany from evading payment of just claims for damages on account of the loss of life and property caused by the sinking of the Lusitania.

It appears now that as soon as the ratification of these treaties can be exchanged between the United States and the other signatory powers, our war with the powers mentioned will be officially closed.

It will help, perhaps, to restore business relations between this country and Germany, which have been suspended since the declaration of war against Germany on April 6, 1917.

PAYING IN GOLD

Since the discovery of America in 1492, the total amount of gold that has been mined in the world is about $12,500,000,000, says the National City bank of New York. Germany is supposed to pay an indemnity of about twice that much in gold.

Half of the gold that has been mined since 1492 is now in the hands of banks and governments. Of the balance, much has been lost or hoarded in India. The rest has been manufactured into watches, gold leaf, etc.

If Germany could obtain control of every gold mine in the world, and if the mines could be made to yield at the same rate as they have since 1492, it would take Germany until the year 2779 to pay the indemnity in full.

Apparently, this has occurred to the French. They negotiate for Germany to pay in goods instead of yellow metal.

REFUNDING THE LOANS

The house committee of congress on refunding the war loans, has very properly rejected Secretary Mellon's proposals that he be given sole authority to refund the foreign loans of nearly 11 billion dollars. The committee has reported in favor of having this matter placed in the hands of a commission consisting of the secretary of the treasury and four others to be designated by the president. That is a much safer arrangement as the refunding of such an enormous amount due from foreign nations would be too much responsibility to place on the shoulders of one man.

BALL PITCHERS

A baseball pitching machine, operated by compressed air and throwing any of the curves that man can throw, and never a wild ball, is described by Popular Mechanics magazine.

No doubt, too, inventors could make a mechanical Babe Ruth that could score a home-run every time. But these are not as interesting as human ball players. Humans are not as perfect as machines. We all know and admit it. Naturally, we admire and cheer the player who can come the closest to mechanical precision.

AS CHANGES COME

Machinery steadily invades all the fields of romance. Whalers fire harpoons from an electric cannon. Sperry invents a device to keep a ship from rocking during a storm. And now a French company will establish automobile caravan service across the Sahara desert.

Getting nearer home, the Horse Thief Detecting Society at Middlebury, N. Y., which was formed in 1877 to combat horse thieves, disbanded. The members will form a new society to catch automobile thieves. Before long, the inventors may force even that to disband and start a new society to catch airplane marauders.

The American Red Cross is not getting much attention now, compared with war-time, but it is carrying on its good work as ably and persistently as during the European conflict.

Its relief operations during the last fiscal year included distribution of food, clothing and medical supplies to 500,000 persons in Austria, mostly children. That is typical of its work all through war-torn Europe. Soldiers go home, but the Red Cross goes on forever. Like woman it work is never done.

THE TARIFF

In spite of the need of real tariff revision in order to protect American industries and promote our export trade, the republican party in congress has decided to extend the emergency tariff law to Feb. 1 of 1922. Comparatively little opposition will be offered to this step inasmuch as congress is deadlocked on the tariff measure and it would be useless to take it up at the present time.

A correspondent writes to say that The Sun is rather selfish in taking to itself so much of the credit for putting the new charter over the top and that but for the Courier-Citizen's eleven hour attempt to beat the charter, it would not have been adopted. We hadn't thought of that, but doubtless that front page editorial against the charter did help in swelling the "yes" majority.

The teachers of the city were needlessly alarmed over the alleged dangers to themselves and the schools, said to lurk in the new charter. The schools and the teachers will be protected under any charter; and we believe much more so with a school board of nine members than with one of five as at present.

District Attorney Pelletier of Suffolk county is handling out some hot stuff to the Boston Bar association which has included his name in a list of lawyers against whom disbarment proceedings should be entered. Apparently Mr. Pelletier is not afraid of the insinuations of the bar association.

It is now in order for the wards to begin looking over the list of candidates with a view to making the best possible selection for the municipal council. The intelligence of the electorate in each ward will be judged by the character and ability of the man it elects to the city council.

Despite the criticism of the city government as a whole, mainly on account of the wreck system in force, there are many officials in the government who cannot be improved upon and who, we hope, will be retained for the good of the city.

Senator David I. Walsh voted in favor of the peace treaties ratified by the senate on Monday. That was consistent with his course in opposing the League of Nations.

There will be room in the next school board for a few well equipped women to help in conducting the schools of the city.

Perhaps the man who decided that women voters must always vote their noses before casting ballots, will be able to find out how old Ann was.

SEEN AND HEARD

A scientist says the earth is cooling off. It does every fall.

Lots of people go around hunting temptations to avoid.

One cure for insomnia is have someone pound on your door and tell you to get up until you go to sleep.

Farmer Bruce Rice of Independence, Mo., ordered a well drilled near his back door. At a depth of 13 feet it struck a stream of oil which drenched his house. "I say it up," he yelled. "I want water. It's getting so a fellow can't dig around here without nearly drowning in oil. We'll use the old lantern for a while longer." Offers of oil men to take over the gusher were refused.

Put Up Job

A Scotsman was dying in a hospital. The doctor asked him if he thought anything would do him good. "Yes," said the Scot. "I should like to hear the bagpipes once again." The bagpipes were played for him for half an hour. He recovered. But all the other patients, who were English, died.

The Two Puzzles

One morning, when Billy woke up, he sat on the floor for some time gazing at his toes. "Hurry up, Billy," you'll be late for breakfast," said his mother. "Why are you looking at your feet?" "Well," said the boy, "isn't it funny that one of my toes is so much larger than the others; I had them all at the same time, didn't I?"

The Doctor's Advice

A woman who had been to a garden party garbed in the latest and latest bit of fashion's decree, on returning to town experienced the first results of a possible chill. She hastened to her doctor and sought advice as to the best means to prevent an on-coming cold. The doctor was abrupt. He merely said, "Madam, you had better go home, dress yourself, and go to bed."

A Pleasant Reminder

A maid passed a handkerchief to the disreputable hobo, remarking curtly, "If you don't mind, eat it outside." "Bless yer, I'm used to it," he answered. "When I was at home and in clover, as it were, it was me daily custom, when dinner was served, to announce to me valot, 'Parkins, don't wait dinner for me tonight, I'm dining outside!'"—American Legion Weekly.

Didn't Give Up

A Portland, Me., young woman, on the occasion of President Harding's visit to Maine this summer, tossed a box of candy into the president's automobile, but it was immediately thrown out by secret service men, always on the lookout for a bomb. The young woman was determined that the president should get a box of candy from her so she despatched another one, this time in care of Congressman Beedy, who conveyed it to the White House for her.

He Knew French

A soldier while serving in France during the war had picked up a smattering of the French language. After some months he was discharged, and with the money he scraped together opened up as a coal merchant. He was very proud of his knowledge of French and took every opportunity of "airing" it to his customers. A woman entered the office one day and asked him, "How do you sell your coal?" "A la carte or cul de sac," was his reply.

Old Trails to Santa Fe

I wonder if "Bar X" still hits the trail to Santa Fe. The years have traveled swiftly. Since I was down that way.

I wonder if the old-time bunch of roistering gals still wrangles of old-time trails with clinkin' spurs on boots.

I wonder if the rangers still ride to town to face On "right" day they used to; Free-spending lads, of course.

I wonder if "pard" Hawkins Of Pecos Valley fame, Still pilots that old mustang That went a wee bit lame.

And good old Pete the "cow shark" I wonder if he lives And sings those golden melodies Along with "Hardtail" Nives?

And all the other buckaroos Who haunted Santa Fe—I seem to see them all again Trailing the old white way.

From Deming up to Mora, And over to Lascom fort, We pounded the dirt of old New Mex.

And had our grist of sport.

Apaches there—and Navajos—We were ugly in those days, But we were used to trouble. (Their ways were not our ways.)

The shining road to Yesterday! Again the call sounds clear: Buck up, you rangers! Hit the road. For round-up time is here!

Yip! Yip! old-timers, saddle up! Our trail's the other way! We're going back to wake the ghosts Of old-time Santa Fe!

Health Is Vital!

Read what this Mother Says:

Albany, N. Y.—"I have been wonderfully helped by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. During pregnancy my health was very bad. I became so weak and all run down that I could not get around to do anything. Just had to lie around all the time. I decided to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and by the time I had taken about one bottle I was able to be around and do my work. I got along fine after that, never having any more trouble. I had practically no suffering and my child was very healthy. Always since that experience, whenever I feel the least bit run-down or in need of a tonic I take a bottle of Favorite Prescription and it makes me feel fine."

LEFT $60,000 TO CARE FOR CATS OF THE WORLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Cats all over the world will benefit from the $60,000 obtained by the sale of the Miven homestead here.

Miss Caroline Ewen, who occupied the property for years with her two sisters, had a passion for caring for cats.

It was her dream that every cat should have plenty of catnip and milk and a comfortable backyard fence to play on during every one of its nine lives.

She devoted her life to establishing sanitariums and relief organizations for stray cats, and when she died left all her estate, save $600, for carrying on the work. She cut off her two sisters in her will because they were not sufficiently enthusiastic about cats.

The money for running the cat population of the world became available when her nephew recently settled his contest of her will out of court.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

That there is more than one way to skin a cat was well demonstrated the other evening by a person desirous of obtaining recognition of the local street railway company. The gentleman in question was waiting for his car when along bobbed one of the one man trolley cars. The prospective passenger stepped into the road and signaled the car. Evidently the operator of the vehicle didn't see him for the car bobbed merrily on. Although one of a hunched years the prospective passenger was unharmed. He ran along behind the car, caught the trolley rope and pulled the trolley from the wire. The car stopped and the man was taken aboard. Moral:—It pays to have a pull, but that particular kind is prohibited by law.

Wednesday morning about 8:30 o'clock I was walking the Middlesex street station when I noticed a man run to a fire alarm box and send in a call. About 100 people gathered around the box and all wanted to know where the fire was. Looking up to the third story of a brick building behind him a few wisps of smoke could be seen coming out. Within five minutes at least nine pieces of apparatus were on the scene. It seems a telephone message would have answered the purpose as well, for a couple of lines of chemical hose quenched the small blaze. And it may be well to remark a little police protection wouldn't have hurt matters any. During the time then the apparatus was rushing to the scene, a telephone message came in to the fire department, saying that a man was working for the street department, took up a stand in the middle of the street and gave what he could. Other calls have details of officers to the scene, but no alarm calls, especially if the calls come from a business section.

There is a clock located on the Boston & Maine building at Tower's corner which might be of some value if it were kept going. But for a long time the hands have indicated the hour to be 26 minutes after four. The timepiece is placed in a very convenient spot for people coming up from the railroad station. However, to look up at the tower day after day only to see the hands in the same position on the dial does not speak very well for the up-to-date-ness of its owners. If the clock is going, a strike it should wait until the first of the month to be in the swim.

I.O.O.F. M.E. MEETING
The next regular meeting of the Local Merrimack Valley, I.O.O.F. M.E. will be held Friday night in the Odd Fellows building on Middlesex street. After the usual business is disposed of, there will be a final report from the entertainment committee regarding the 25th anniversary banquet which is to be held Saturday, October 22, at 6:30 p. m., in Highland hall, Branch street.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN
Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out
Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

QUICKEST RELIEF FOR HEAD COLDS

Colds and catarrh yield like magic to soothing, healing, antiseptic cream that penetrates through every air passage and relieves swollen, inflamed membranes of nose and throat. Your clogged nostrils open right up and you can breathe freely. Hacking and sneezing stop. Don't stay stuffy up and miserable.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist. Apply a little in the nostrils and get instant relief. Millions endorse this remedy known for more than fifty years.—Adv.

DYED HER STOCKINGS AND SKIRT TO MATCH

Every "Diamond Dyes" package tells how to dye or tint any wool, silk, cotton or drapery a new rich color that will not streak, fade, or run. Perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. For fifty-one years millions of women have been using "Diamond Dyes" to add years of wear to their old, shabby waists, skirts, dresses, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything!—Adv.

ANNUAL FARMERS' BALL

Associate Hall Scene of Country Dance — Prizes Awarded by Mayor

Nearly a thousand persons made merry at the second annual farmers' ball of the women's auxiliary, Post 37, American Legion, held in Associate hall last night. The affair was excellently conducted and was one of the most successful social events held in this city by a woman's organization. Appropriate decorations around the balcony and on the stage and farmers' costumes scattered in evidence everywhere gave the affair the intended rural effect and furnished much amusement for the crowd. Among the guests present were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson, the former awarding the prizes for the best costumes. The best "farmers" were judged to be Miss Anna McGaughey and William E. Walsh. Both were attired in attractive country costumes. A separate feature of the evening, although unannounced and unknown to the majority of those present, was the presentation of a large bouquet of chrysanthemums to Mrs. Edward McDermott, secretary of the auxiliary, in honor of the second anniversary of her wedding. The presentation was made by the mayor at request of Miss Nellie Fife, on behalf of the workers of the "poppy" day campaign. The presentation was a genuine surprise to Mrs. McDermott.

The following committee was in charge of the dance: Mrs. Arthur Messier, general manager; Miss Nellie Fife, assistant; Mrs. Thomas Kearns, floor director; Mrs. Leo Tansey, assistant and Miss Loretta Messier, treasurer.

During the evening refreshments were served, the following being the workers at the handsomely decorated ice cream and cake booth: Mrs. Mary Curran, chairman; Mrs. Edward McDermott, treasurer; Miss Marion Curran, cashier; Mrs. William H. Merritt, Mrs. Winifred Brick, Mrs. David Fawley, Mrs. Fred Cassidy, Mrs. G. L. Hicks, Mrs. Charles S. Norris, Mrs. Herbert Lee, Miss Mollie O'Sullivan, Miss Nellie Cochran, Mrs. George Robbins, Mrs. Mackie, Mrs. Charles S. Young and Mrs. James J. Powers.

EXCELLENT CONCERT

BY BLIND ARTISTS

The blind musical artists, John and Mary McCay, gave a very pleasing concert of an entertainment before a capacity audience in Colonial hall last night. Both of the artists, who are brother and sister, have been blind since birth, and their surprising talent amazed the audience. Both are accomplished musicians, and gave great pleasure with both their vocal and instrumental numbers, and Mr. McCay was particularly good in his character numbers.

During intermission between the two parts of the concert, Mr. McCay spoke interestingly on the Irish situation, showing a thorough comprehension of events in Ireland, past and current, and holding his audience enthralled for fully a half-hour. Miss McCay gave an interesting reading, using the famous Braille system for the blind.

The program follows:

PART I
Piano Duet, "Norma" (Beyer) Bellini

Berton Braley's Daily Poem THE ULTIMATE TEST

Dear Lady, my affection Shall nevermore depart, Your image rules each section Of all my throbbing heart; No trouble, grief or pity, Can turn our love to scorn; You've seen me eat spaghetti, I've seen you eating corn.

There's naught can break the tether, That binds us strong and fast, We two shall stick together Until the very last; We're cupid's one best bet, he Won't let such ties be torn; You've seen me eat spaghetti, I've seen you eating corn.

To eat such vands nearly Is hard, as all admit; I never saw a couple, that Got away with it. Life's woes and worries fretty Shall not make us forlorn; You've seen me eat spaghetti, I've seen you eating corn. (Copyright, 1921, The Lowell Sun.)

OUR TELEPHONE SERVICE

Visiting Week at Local Exchange—Interesting Story of Its Equipment

No one in Lowell who ever has occasion to use the telephone should miss the opportunity afforded this week to inspect the various departments of the local exchange of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company. It is amazing that so many things of absorbing interest and efficiency in each and every department is little short of marvellous.

On entering the building you are courteously greeted and conducted to the basement, where the tour of inspection must begin in order that you may thoroughly understand the workings of the entire system. Here you are told that although the power ordinarily used to run the generators is supplied by the Lowell Electric Light Corp., it is necessary to maintain an auxiliary gas engine for use in emergency. This engine is situated directly at the foot of the basement stairs. If it should ever happen that neither the electric nor gas power was available, a gasoline engine, which is kept at all times on a truck at the Boston exchange, could be rushed here at a moment's notice, ready to take up the burden of running the generators. In another section of the basement are located the storage batteries, charged daily, and never allowed to discharge more than twenty points below the normal level. These are kept for the toll business. Probably the most interesting section of the basement is the cable vault, through which all the wires connected with the exchange must pass on their way to the various sections of the city. There are 115 miles of these wires, all twisted in cables, the largest cables containing 200 pairs of wires, all covered in cables, the largest cables containing 200 pairs of wires. The company plans in the near future to introduce a new type of cable, containing 1200 pairs of wires. The new cable will be no larger than the old type, but the wires will be 24 gauge instead of 19, the gauge which is now in use. Each of the company has proven that 24-gauge wires are satisfactory for telephone work. All the wires are paper insulated.

On the first floor, near the street entrance, the cables ascend to the main distributing frame. Here each line is equipped with a pair of carbons and a pair of heating coils. Each carbon contains a piece of fusible metal, which will melt should a heavy current connect the carbons, grounding the line in the ground plate pier. The carbons are separated by a mica about 1-12th of an inch in thickness. The heating coils connect the cables to the cross-wiring on the main distributing frame. These coils also operate on a sneak current such as might be caused by contact with a telegraph, police or fire alarm wire. A sneak current passing through the coils has a tendency to heat, causing the fusible metal to allow a pin to slip through and connect with a spring, which is forced against the ground plate. Thus the lines are protected against heavy currents, and accidental contacts. On the 2nd side of the frame the subscribers' multiple begins. At this point any line may be changed from one section to the other in a very simple manner, by means of a switch. There are 6595 available lines on this frame, about 6300 of which are now in use. Every connection is soldered, making 60,000 connections to the main frame. On the intermediate distributing frame, which is situated to the rear of the main frame, the lines may be wired to any section of the switchboard which the chief operator desires. All pay-station, pay-junk, measured service and unlimited service lines are grouped together. The lines are crossed wiring to answering racks on the intermediate distributing frame, which are cabled to the switchboard. The circuits in the building are protected by fuses of from 1/2 to 10 amperes, and if anything goes wrong with them a signal bell is sounded by an operation of the fuses and continues to sound until the trouble is remedied. A vacuum tube repeater, one of the newer inventions of the telephone company's engineers, is used on long trunk connections in the local exchange, connecting the New York and Portland circuits. By its use the transmission is practically the same as in a local call, enabling the parties on either end to hear each other as distinctly as if they were talking from different sections of the same city. All lines to outlying exchanges pass through the toll-test board, which is used to locate service trouble. This board also affords an opportunity to transfer any toll line to any other toll line in the exchange. This is useful in case of a breakdown. The Associated Press lines in the exchange are also under the supervision of the toll-test man, as are the leased wires for brokers' offices and the ticker service. When trouble is reported the trouble operator secures the line card from the cabinet, makes a note of the trouble and passes it along to the test men. The line card gives the name and address of the subscriber, equipment on subscriber's premises, cable, terminal and conductors; also when the apparatus was installed and time, date, names of men sent to repair the trouble, time sent and time the repair was O.K'd. The test men test the trouble and send out the men who are assigned to the district in which it occurs. There are usually about 125 complaints of this nature each day, and on an average not more than half a dozen lines are out of order at the end of the day, except in case of a severe thunder storm or heavy rain. In the line assigners' department, when an application is received for telephone service the line assigners are consulted on the ability of the company to give the required service. In this department are maps of the city in the form of block plans, and cable cards showing conduits in use through the cables. Thus they are able to reach a decision in a short time. All message-rate subscribers are now connected to a relay which registers every call obtained by operating a key after connection has been established. A large battery is on duty 24 hours a day, ringing all bells in the building, another, a perfect duplicate, is ready for an emergency.

The upper floors are much more familiar to the average person. The operating room, where all calls are handled, is of absorbing interest. The information operators, with their complete lists of subscribers, indexed in various ways, the local board, where many of the local calls are attended to, with its seemingly hopeless tangle of cord and plugs and the other boards where the various kinds of calls are received, are all calculated to make the casual visitor wonder that there are so few causes for complaint in the service. One of the points which is given the greatest emphasis deals with jangling the hook when the party making the call wishes to attract the operator's attention. As a matter of fact, a too rapid motion of the hook gives no signal whatsoever, while an slow movement does the trick.

The accounting room on the top floor is a model of efficiency. Here one is shown all the latest and best modern appliances for office work, and the clerks handle an amazing volume of business without any great effort.

The lounging room and lunch room are interesting places to visit, showing that the company looks after its help, pretty thoroughly. Altogether, a visit to this exchange is decidedly worth while, and one cannot help being impressed by the astonishing amount of detail involved in supplying us with telephone service.

RAIN-WASHED LEAVES CHOKED SEWERS

The sewers are once more giving trouble. This time it is because of the heavy rains of last night which washed the leaves into catch basins. Commissioner Murphy said he had about 20 complaints today of defective drains. City Engineer Kearney was out early investigating the causes.

Mr. Murphy says the sewers will give trouble in this manner until a large enough force of men can be had to look after them. He says at the present time he has only four crews of three men each to look after this work.

He said, "I have requested every year for more men to look after this work. I do not seem to be able to get them. The force is no larger now than it was 20 years ago despite the fact that four or five hundred additional catch basins have been put in."

"This morning I have about 20 complaints of sewers being stopped up. It is because the rains have washed leaves into the catch basins. I will have to take part of my men from other jobs and put them on to this work. We will attempt to get things in working order at once."

The exercises will be held in Monument square in front of city hall and will open at 11.55 with a salute fired by the battery. The gathering will begin at 12 o'clock. The gathering will be presided over by Stephen C. Gray, vice commander of the local post. The first number on the program will be the singing of America by the community.

Rev. William J. Mahan, O.M.I., chaplain of the local post, American Legion, will invoke the blessing.

The president's proclamation will be read by Commander James J. Powers. Mayor Percy D. Thompson will then make a short address.

A roll call of the members who died in the service and since then will be called by John J. Walsh, state historian.

The two minutes' silent period will be held. Benediction will be given by Rev. Arthur J. McGiffert, Jr., pastor of All Souls church.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of John J. Walsh, chairman; Joseph H. McGuire, Stephen C. Gray, John T. McDermott and James P. McCreedy.

Hope to Avert Big Tieup

morning and went into conference preparatory to their meeting this afternoon with the United States Railroad labor board.

Union headquarters was optimistic and there was a strongly evident feeling that there would be no strike unless something unexpected occurred to disrupt the conference.

Despite the optimism in brotherhood circles, J. M. McGrath, vice president of the Railway Employees department, American Federation of Labor, (the six federated shop crafts) declared before the labor board hearing in the Pennsylvania case that a strike seemed to him to be certain. The shop crafts have voted to strike, but have not issued strike orders.

Twenty-two railroads have violated labor board decisions, McGrath said, and the men are insistent on walking out.

Present at the union conference were Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen; and T. C. Cashman, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The 11 "standard" unions marked time today awaiting the outcome of the labor board meeting. While a few of their general chairmen met to discuss strike plans, the majority crowded the hearing rooms of the labor board to see the Pennsylvania railroad cited for failure to obey the board's orders.

Important Conferences

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press) Leaders of the Big Five railroad brotherhoods met today with the railroad labor official in a secret informal conference to air their grievances which led to the strike call for October 30, while chairman of most of the 11 other principal railroad unions were deciding whether they also would call a walkout to complete the proposed transportation tieup.

Labor board members were optimistic over prospects of an adjustment of the brotherhoods' complaints, but no plans had been announced for discussing with railroad executives the board's program to avert the strike by temporarily maintaining the present wage level and reducing freight rates.

Prior to the conference with the brotherhoods, the board had scheduled a hearing with Pennsylvania railroad representatives on charges of violation of a board decision requiring a new election of shop crafts' representatives. This case is the first of its kind to come before the board and is expected to establish the extent of the board's power in enforcing its decisions under the transportation act.

Plans to operate passenger, mail and milk trains were being pushed by railroad executives, in event the strike takes place, with resumption of freight traffic as fast as men can be secured. From the ranks of men recently laid off, pensioners, loyal veterans and others with railroad experience, railroad officials here declared they could recruit nearly a half million men. Roads entering New York were advertising for men to fill positions which may be vacated and roads entering Chicago are expected to take the same course within the next few days.

Between August, 1920, and June, 1921, the number of railroad employees decreased by 611,651, according to figures the interstate commerce commission and more than 40,000 of these were train service men.

The Pennsylvania sought applications to fill places made vacant by such men as may leave the service. The Erie specified such places as may be vacant November 1, and offered permanent positions at standard wages.

O'Dea Case

Q. Did you see Allard hand him any money?
A. No. I saw O'Dea hand money to Allard.

Cross-examined by Lawyer Shea, witness said his name is Rousseau, in Lowell he is commonly called Brooks. He said he is sole owner of the business at 45 Moody street, which is in a building owned by Allard. He said shortly before November 1, 1920, O'Dea went to him and said he could take care of him. He understood that he meant that as a federal officer, he could cause trouble for him.

Q. Were you at that time, dealing in the intoxicating liquor business?
Rousseau refused to answer the question and was sustained by the court.

Q. On November 1, he came back again and had some talk with you?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. He said he wanted to buy an auto?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. He said he wanted you to contribute $100?
A. Yes, but I offered him $50.

Q. Did he accept it?
A. No, sir, he wanted $100.

Q. Did you give it to him?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. After you paid him $100 you did not see him again in your place until Dec. 31?
A. He might have come in, but I do not remember.

Witness then said O'Dea was in his place of business on Dec. 31 with Officers Clark and Moore.

Q. Did you testify before that O'Dea dashed in and jumped over the bar?
A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was there anyone in the store at the time?
A. Three or four.

Q. Have you any employees?
A. Yes, a few.

Rousseau denied having any talk with O'Dea when he jumped over the bar. O'Dea did not say what he wanted, but he, Rousseau, had an idea what he wanted.

Q. Did you see Allard go down stairs with O'Dea?
A. Yes, sir.

Continuing, witness said Allard and O'Dea had some talk in the cellar, but he could not make out what they were saying. When the two returned upstairs, O'Dea went out with the officers, and later returned alone. He went into the back of the shop and passed money over to Allard.

Questioned by the United States assistant district attorney, Rousseau said he is called Brooks by some people, as it is the English translation of his name, but he has never signed his name Brooks.

Albert Allard Testifies

Albert Allard was the next witness called. He said he lived in 7th avenue, Lowell, and is in the lunch cart business. He owns the building at 45 Moody street. Knows O'Dea fairly well since last December. Around Christmas time, he said, he spoke to O'Dea. He saw him in the saloon and had a few words with him outside. At that time O'Dea spoke about a commission. "I told him I had nothing to do with the saloon. I saw him again on New Year's eve in the saloon. O'Dea was walking back and forth behind the bar, saying it took him quite a while to get the fellow, but finally

"Good Old Days" of Low Prices Back in Lowell

The Public Realizes That Goods Are Offered Cheap and Purchases Freely

If there is any complaint in regards to high prices in Lowell, it's not from people who have made purchases at the Merrimack Clothing Store, across from city hall. This well known concern is offering goods to the public at prices none of us expected to see for years to come. How they're doing it we can't tell, but the goods are there and the wise ones are taking advantage of the opportunities offered.

This week overcoats are the main issue and there are hundreds of them to select from. Men's, women's and boys' are all included at low prices. Men's new fall soft hats are offered at the good old price of $3—think of it, felt hats back to $3. Worth repeating, isn't it? Men's winter union suits are featured at less than half price and boys' stockings are marked below mill price. We could talk on for a long time about the remarkable offerings this store has for you, but we will ask you turn to page 17 and get the whole story better than we can tell it here.—Adv.

HOW THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT WILL BE MADE UP

Powers of the Mayor to Nominate and Suspend Defined—Powers of the Council—The Board of Public Service May Be Removed by Vote of Council

The new charter is now the chief subject of discussion and everybody interested in our city government wants to know its precise provisions. There has been much confusion and even contradictions as to certain features of the charter, the mayor's power, the powers of the council and the functions of the board of public service.

It is assumed that most people are aware that the salary of the mayor has been fixed at $5000 a year and his term of office at two years.

The council will consist of 15 members, six elected at large and one by each of the wards. The annual salary for the members of the council is $3000 and the term of office two years.

The school committee will consist of nine members, all elected at large for terms of two years. No salary is provided for the members.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF H. S. OFFICERS

The announcement of the officers of the high school regiment took place after school today. The highest rank was made by Guy Butler, the next by Roland Crowley and the third by Jas. Henry. These three boys will be the leaders of the regiment until the final examination for colonel takes place in February. The complete list of officers will be given out tomorrow.

Mayoralty, Alderman and School Board Candidates Take Out Papers

The advance guard of candidates seeking public office has descended upon the elections commission headquarters in city hall and the taking out of nomination papers by four men already indicates that the number to fight for office this year will be large. The office reports four sets of papers taken out since the acceptance of the new charter by the voters, two candidates for alderman, one for school committee and one for mayor being recorded. George Brown took out papers for mayor yesterday afternoon.

URGES UNIONS TO AVERT STRIKE

American R. R. Men's Association Sends Warning in Appeal to Unions

Strike Would Mean Extreme Poverty, Want and Suffering

Unions Urged to Call Off Strike and Accept Wage Reduction

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 20.—The American Railroad Men's association, a fraternal and benevolent association, embracing 10,000 yardmasters, yard conductors and switchmen, today issued an appeal to all railroad unions to call off the proposed general strike and accept the wage cut ordered by the United States Railroad Labor board.

The union men were warned that if they strike, "arrayed against you there will be 100,000,000 men, women and children. The same railroad managements that now seem to decry public opinion would so mould and crystallize it against you as to overwhelm you and would use in their defense that same weapon which has been used against them."

The statement, an open letter to union men, was signed by Frank MacKus, Jr., business manager of the order. "A cessation of railroad work now would make more terrible existing conditions of employment and in its trend would follow extreme poverty, want and suffering," the appeal said.

PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY EXERCISES

Plans for Armistice Day exercises to be held by the local post 57 of the American Legion were submitted to Mayor Thompson today. The mayor approved the program in every detail and said he would do all in his power to make the exercises successful.

The program as announced is very appropriate for the occasion. One impressive part of it will be the two minutes of silent meditation for the boys who dropped out of the ranks defending the honor of their country. Mayor Thompson has been asked to

FAVORABLE OUTLOOK FOR TANNING TRADE

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A favorable outlook for the tanning trade, coupled with a warning against speculation, was expressed today by Harry I. Thayer, president of the tanners' council of the United States, at the annual meeting here.

"I believe," he said, "that the leather business for the remainder of 1921 will show continued improvement. There is already evidence of more demand for medium and lower grade shoes. This will stimulate greater production and have a stabilizing effect upon the industry. However, great care must be used in every detail of production, speculation must not be indulged in, and every effort must be made to stabilize business."

"The manufacturers in this country for some years to come must calculate on a smaller margin of profit, necessitating economies in every department of their plants."

The trial of John B. O'Dea of this city, a former prohibition enforcement officer, indicted on three counts for asking and receiving money with intent to be influenced in his official conduct, was heard today in the federal court, Postoffice building, Boston, before Justice Morton and a jury.

The prosecution was handled by U. S. District Attorney Robert M. Harris, and Assistant U. S. District Attorney William P. White, Jr., of Lowell. Defendant was represented by Daniel Shea and Leo Rogers of Boston, and J. Joseph Hennessy and Cornelius J. O'Neil of Lowell.

The indictment reads as follows: "With unlawfully asking Napoleon C. Rousseau the sum of one hundred dollars with intent to be influenced against investigating offenses against the national prohibition law; also, to have received the sum of two hundred and seventy dollars from Albert Allard with intent to have his decision influenced relative to an offense said to have been committed by Napoleon C. Rousseau in violation of the United States laws; also, to have asked Thos. P. Frontette the sum of twenty dollars with intent on his part to be influenced in his decision and actions in the matter of proceeding relative to a complaint against said Frontette, charged with violating the laws of the United States, relative to the prohibition of the unlawful manufacture, sale and possession of intoxicating liquors."

Rousseau's First Witness
Napoleon C. Rousseau was the first witness called when the case opened late yesterday afternoon. He said that on Dec. 31, 1920, O'Dea went into his place of business at 45 Moody street, a near beer saloon, with Allard. Both men went into the cellar, and when they returned upstairs he saw O'Dea count some money and said he had something on him and wanted $300 to fix it up. Rousseau answered that he did not have any money, O'Dea said he would return later.

Q. Do you know how much money O'Dea handed to Allard?
A. No, I don't.

STRONG CLUE TO BOMB MAKER

Letter Threatened to Kill Ambassador Herrick by "Scientific Means"

Writing Similar to That of Address on the Bomb Package

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Ambassador Herrick went to the American embassy, as usual this morning, little affected by his narrow escape yesterday when a bomb exploded in a room of his home in Avenue de Meville.

Mr. Herrick found scores of telegrams and letters of congratulation from officials and friends all over Europe. The first thing he did was to issue instructions that anyone desiring to give him a present must bring it opened to the embassy. Packages brought to the embassy will be under suspicion and will be opened under water in the presence of police. The entire detective force of Paris and all available policemen under the personal direction of the prefect of police, worked throughout the night to trace the makers of the bomb. It was said a number of persons were under surveillance and that two clues formed the basis for further investigation.

Fragments of metal, of which the bomb was made, and an address on the corner of the box containing it were the only tangible clues. Bomb experts in the police department are trying to identify the small fragments to trace the source of the purchase of the infernal machine. Inquiry will be made in all the shops of Paris where bullets are sold. The experts believe the bomb contained a number of explosive bullets, and if the mark of manufacture on these can be discovered, this may lead to identification of the person or persons who made the purchase. Inquiry also is being made to determine whether the registered parcel was mailed in Paris. The postman who delivered the package at the embassy and the district office from which it was registered, figured in the investigation.

Walter Blanchard, Mr. Herrick's valet, who was hit by fragments of the bomb, probably will leave the American hospital tomorrow as his injuries have proved slight. The embassy was carefully guarded today by policemen and detectives and a stronger guard will be thrown around the building tomorrow, the day set by the communist press for a big demonstration in front of the embassy. Officials said today that the police would not permit any crowd to approach the embassy or to gather in the neighborhood, and also it was said that a mass meeting in one of the big parish halls might be suppressed.

"If the man who opened the package had not been a soldier in the late war, he would have been blown to pieces," a police official said this morning. It was admitted that these fragments offer scant foundation for the investigation as hundreds of thousands of bombs left from the war are scattered throughout Europe.

A couple of hundred threatening letters which had been received at the embassy and which have been turned over to the police, are now undergoing expert scrutiny. The attention of the police has been directed toward a certain number of American citizens, who, although banished from France, are known still to be in the country. The first searches, however, it was said today, will probably be made in anarchist and communist circles.

French experts examining the several hundred letters sent to the ambassador today discovered one which they believe may furnish a strong clue in tracing the maker of the bomb.

The letter was addressed to the ambassador personally and was received on Oct. 11. It is said to have contained a threat to kill him by "scientific means" which the writer declared he had in his possession.

These experts today believed they saw a striking similarity between the handwriting of the letter and that of the address on the box which contained the bomb. The letter was written with pencil on cheap paper. It was written in French and in small, uneven letters.

At the top of the sheet were the words: "Sacco and Vanzetti" in large letters.

The letter said: "As the representative of your country, you are a party to the persecution of Sacco and Vanzetti, and you are, therefore, jointly responsible for their execution. I have in my power scientific means of sending you to the same destiny, together with your whole household."

The letter was signed: "A Scientific Man Who Will Work Alone."

Lloyd George Settles Controversy—Is Disciple of Christ and a Baptist

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 20.—Controversy over the religious affiliation of David Lloyd George, who has been claimed here by both Disciples of Christ and Baptists, was settled today by Lloyd George himself, after the manner of a Solomon, choosing neither the one nor the other, but claiming them both.

PERSONAL INJURY SUIT AGAINST CITY

The importance of having plenty of heavy canvas coverings on cement left out of doors in wet weather was explained in detail by a witness in a civil session of superior court to Judge Bishop, this morning, during the continuance of an action to recover damages from the city of Lowell brought by Mrs. Hannah Harrington of this city.

Employees of the city testified that a quantity of sand and cement was piled on the sidewalk and roadway on Lawrence street, near the corner of Swift, on August 14, 1920. Plaintiff claims that the place was not properly lighted, and she stumbled over the road materials, sustaining severe injuries.

City witnesses declared that the cement was piled in bags between two piles of sand. The sand was not covered, but the cement was. One witness testified that a small canvas was first used, then a larger canvas folded twice. Rocks and planks were sometimes used to keep the corners down so the wind and rain would not injure the cement, it was claimed.

William J. Trott, for the past nine years a city watchman, testified that on the night of the accident he was on regular duty and kept lanterns burning on the place where the woman is alleged to have received her injuries. He declared that he "made the rounds" on the street every half hour, and whenever lanterns were found unlighted or were mislaid by boys, he promptly re-lit and returned them to their former positions. He said everything was all right on the night named in the court action.

Dr. Francis R. Mahoney, called by the defense, testified that he physi-

NEW PRESIDENT OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY

ITHACA, Oct. 20.—Cornell university turned from its books, laboratories and workshops today, to inaugurate a new president, Dr. Livingston Farrand. The university had also prepared to lay the cornerstone of a new chemical laboratory, for which Charles M. Schwab, the steel master, gave $150,000.

Upwards of 125 universities and colleges sent representatives to Ithaca for today's ceremonies. Greetings from sister institutions of learning were extended by President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, for the colleges of the east and by other speakers from various sections of the country.

Dr. Farrand is the fourth man to sit in the president's office in Morrill hall. He was president of the University of Colorado from 1914 to 1918, when he resigned to enter the service of the International Health board which waged grim battle against tuberculosis in France during the world war. At the conclusion of that struggle, Dr. Farrand became chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross.

Are You Running Down

and gradually losing your strength and vitality? Is your blood getting thin, and are you becoming nervous, and when you get up in the morning, are you as tired as when you went to bed? These are symptoms of neurasthenia, and deranged stomach. The frequent causes of this condition are overwork and worry.

First of all you must set your stomach to right, and correct the serious disturbances, such as indigestion, constipation, and at the same time flush the kidneys and make the liver active. To accomplish this result—you cannot take a more reliable and better remedy than the good old standby, SEVEN BARKS made from the extracts of roots and herbs. It has been recognized as a standard remedy for stomach, kidney and liver troubles for nearly 30 years.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with indigestion, liver or kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS do not fail to do so, and watch the wonderful results.

Get at the root of all stomach troubles by driving all poisons out of your system for good and all by taking nature's remedy, SEVEN BARKS. One bottle at a small cost will prove its value. Ask your nearest druggist for it today.—Adv.

TABLETS Made With Essential Oils For

Politicians — Auctioneers Clergymen — Lecturers Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public whose voice is apt to grow husky or weak from the strain, will find that Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference. The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.

Thousands of people have testified to the remarkable value of these pure essential oil tablets, which bring such quick relief in cases of Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Soreness, or Tickling in Throat, Bronchitis, Bronchial Irritation, Bronchial Asthma, coughs, Colds and as a preventive against Grippe, Influenza and Pneumonia.

One small, inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove the value of pure essential oil in cases of this kind. If they are always kept in the house for use in case of an emergency, they may save you many days of serious illness or discomfort. Lowell Pharmacy, Liggett's, Green's Drug Store can supply you.—Adv.

WOULDN'T ALLOW CHILD TO DANCE

Another child exhibition dancing act, the second within a month, was stopped by state authorities here last night. This time it happened during a dance at Lincoln hall where Ruth Grady was advertised to appear in terpsichorean productions. Shortly before the exhibition was to be put on, however, Inspector E. J. Meehan appeared and informed Hall Manager Lyttell that Miss Grady was under the 15 years' age limit required by law and that if he wished to avert legal difficulties he had better call off the scheduled feature. After a consultation between the mother of the girl, Mr. Lyttell and Inspector Meehan, it was decided to omit the dance.

A similar affair occurred at another dance hall several weeks ago, when Inspector Gilmore and Agent Richardson prevented another child from performing for the same reason.

$10,000,000 For Care of Crippled Children

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20.—Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Ga., imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, told Shriners of this city last night that the organization had pledged itself to the expenditure of $10,000,000 for the care and cure of crippled children regardless of color, creed or sex. Mr. Cutts said that as far as statistics have been available, there are 400,000 crippled children within the jurisdiction of the Shrine and that it is the program of the organization to establish hospitals in various sections of the country to care for them.

CHAMBERS LINE UP FOR RAILROAD CRISIS

Definite plans were made yesterday by the Massachusetts state chamber of commerce to line up the resources of its ninety-two member organizations throughout the state in aid of the railroad, in case the threatened strike is actually called, and a letter was sent to Gov. Channing H. Cox, at the state house, by Horace A. Carter, president of the chamber, informing the governor that the state chamber stands ready to render the utmost co-operation in this crisis and that each of its affiliated organizations is also ready to be used for local assistance throughout Massachusetts.

The offer of assistance to Gov. Cox was contained in the following letter: "We note with concern that a nationwide strike of organized railroad labor has been called to take effect with regard to the New England lines on or about Nov. 1. Should such a strike occur the resources of the state under your direction could undoubtedly be organized for the relief of the public and to maintain avenues of transportation for essential commodities."

The Massachusetts state chamber of commerce, through its executive committee and board of directors, stands ready to render you the utmost possible co-operation. We believe also that you may count upon each of the affiliated organizations for local assistance to any extent that may seem necessary. The officers and facilities of the state chamber are at your service."

DENIES REPORT OF NAVAL BASES

Great Britain Not Planning

Establishment of Bases in
the Bermudas

Admiralty Official Declares
Reports Are "Pure Imagination"

LONDON, Oct. 20 (by the Associated Press).—Reports that Great Britain was planning the establishment of naval bases in the Bermudas, at Singapore or elsewhere, were termed "pure imagination" today by an admiralty official, who declared he was unable to understand what Premier Hughes of Australia was referring to in his recent speech on the subject.

A Melbourne despatch Wednesday reported Premier Hughes as declaring that the question of a British naval base in the Pacific was discussed at the recent conference of the empire and that a decision regarding it was reached, but that the base would not be at Singapore. His reference to Singapore was taken as connected with rumors printed in London that Great Britain was preparing a new naval base in the Pacific and that it was intended to spend £2,000,000 in converting Singapore into a first class station. This was coupled with reports that the Bermudas were to be converted "into a first class base" which the Daily Sketch, in printing the reports, said, was suggestive of co-operation with the United States.

"We are spending no money on Singapore" was the admiralty comment. "There are no items in the admiralty appropriation for such purposes. Certainly nothing in that line will be contemplated in the Pacific or elsewhere, at least until after the Washington conference."

The Daily Herald, the labor organ, says today that the admiralty told representatives of that newspaper that it had no plans for action in the event of a breakdown of the Washington conference.

"We are not sending more ships to China, except the ordinary replacements after the ship has been a long time abroad," the newspaper quotes the admiralty as declaring in this connection.

How New City Government Will Be Made Up

for the board of public service, five for the shiking fund commission and four for the cemetery commission.

It is provided in the charter, however, that members of the park commission, license board, election commission, library trustees and cemetery commission shall finish their present terms before any new nomination shall be made by the mayor.

The mayor will also have the power to nominate the chief of police and the chief of the fire department, both for three year terms, the purchasing agent, the city physician, the superintendent of charities, the city messenger, the superintendent of wires, the superintendent of state aid, the inspector of buildings, city bacteriologist, smoke inspector, fish and game warden, inspector of animals, and pound keeper, all for two year terms.

The scales of weights and measures, the superintendent, and the inspector of milk and vinegar will not be disturbed by the change in charter, as the legislature provided that they shall remain under civil service rules and be subject to removal only for cause in the usual way.

The mayor will nominate three members for the board of public service, one of whom must be an engineer of five years' experience. The terms at first will be for one, two and three years respectively, and thereafter for three years.

This board will appoint a city engineer, the superintendent of streets and the superintendent of water works. These officials will be under control of the board of public service. This board may be removed at any time by a two-thirds vote of the council for cause, which that body may deem sufficient. The mayor has a veto power over the acts of the council which can be overruled by a two-thirds vote.

As to removals from office, the mayor can suspend the head of any department subject to the approval of the city council. The deposed official can apply for a hearing before the city council within 15 hours and the council by a two-thirds vote can sustain the mayor or reinstate the official.

The Council has absolute power to elect the city clerk, treasurer and auditor by a majority vote.

The council is also vested with the power to remove any head of a department in spite of the mayor after such official has been given a hearing and the cause for his removal has been definitely stated.

If any nomination made by the mayor or he not confirmed within 10 days, he may repeat it or make a different one for the office. But the same person must not be nominated more than twice in the same year for any office.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Donald C. Moran, who escaped from Charle street jail in 1920 while under charges of stealing automobiles, has been captured in New York, Inspector Thomas Sheehan, said today. A demand was made of the bureau of criminal investigation, furnished the information to the New York police that led to the arrest.

Moran, who has several aliases has been charged with the theft of a car, and Sheehan thought he recognized Moran's handiwork. In several New York cases. A search and a long investigation of the records of the city resulted in Moran's arrest by the New York police.

Moran was brought to Boston and taken to the city hall to stand trial for jail-breaking and stealing of automobiles after the New York police get through with him.

Moran made his escape from the Charle street jail by climbing a rope which had been left hanging against the wall.

Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep three Vegetable Compound in the house."

It certainly is my best friend and I recommend it to my mother and always shall. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PITTS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such woman should follow Mrs. Pitt's advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and regain health.

Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., will send their Private Text-book, "Ailments Peculiar to Women," free upon request. It contains valuable information.

A black and white photograph showing a group of people, including men, women, and children, gathered around a large wooden structure, possibly a ship's hull or a large crate. A man in a hat is leaning over a table, and a woman is standing nearby. A child is visible in the foreground, and a man is standing on a platform or scaffolding in the background. The scene appears to be outdoors, possibly at a dock or a construction site.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Premier Gonnaris and Foreign Minister Baltazis of Greece arrived here today to lay the financial situation in Greece before the French authorities.

LONDON, Oct. 20. (By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George's decision to go to the Washington conference is having its effect upon the progress of the conference with Irish leaders, which has been in progress here for the past week endeavoring to solve the "Irish question." The Irish leaders are expressing a pressed belief that the plan whereby the various points, particularly the conditions named in Mr. Lloyd George's Dominion home rule proposals, are to be referred to sub-committees, makes it quite safe for him to proceed to America.

On the other hand, Sinn Féin leaders are believed to be determined to ascertain before his departure whether it is to be "peace or war." Some of them say that none of the critical points have been discussed, and that, which fact, they claim, accounts for the smoothness of the sessions to date; and they object to these points being kept in the back-ground indefinitely.

The date has yet been fixed for the next meeting of the Irish conference.

Lift Off with Fingers

A discussion on "The Spiritual Invicarication of Our Churches," treated from different viewpoints, was the feature of the fall conference of the North Middlesex district, Unitarian churches, held yesterday at the Plaza Hotel, Columbia Heights.

The gathering went on record as favoring the course taken by the United States in reference to limited armaments, and unanimously adopted a resolution forwarded to Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes expressing the conference's support at the coming peace conference at Washington.

The resolution was offered by Rev. G. McGiffert, of Lowell.

Besides the regular clergymen of the district there were several ministers from other churches, including one who addressed the audience in topics relative to the church. The principal speaker at the afternoon session was Dr. Minot Shattuck, of Boston, secretary of the church extension association, American Unitarian association. Mr. Shattuck spoke on "church organization." Other speakers were Rev. James C. Duncan, of Clinton, Rev. Ott Lyding, of Nashua, and Rev. L. A. Greene, of Hallowell.

The fall conference came to a close together again and the officers were elected for the coming year. Thomas H. Elliott, of Lowell, was re-elected president. Rev. George C. Wright, secretary and Joseph A. Harwood, of Littleton, treasurer. William A. Lamson, of Lowell, was named on the Sunday school committee.

The fall rally of churches, held in the afternoon, showed 157 lay delegates present and 17 ministerial delegates. Following a program of music and singing by the church organist and choir the day's discussion was resumed with Rev. A. L. Hughes, of Cambridge, as Rev. Frank A. Powell, of Braintree, was unable to attend. The speaker, the conference came to a close at 3 o'clock.

Many Former Service Men
Register — Classes Will Open in Near Future

The Lowell K. of C. school had its registration last evening in Associate Bldg. Enough former services men registered for the classes to insure the school of another very successful year. The classes will begin shortly.

In line with its established policy, the Knights of Columbus school will be absolutely free to any ex-serviceman. All that is required is a discharge from any branch of the service. Books and supplies are supplied by the order to such an extent.

The classes will be conducted along the same lines as last year. In addition to last year's courses there will be classes begun in any subject in which the registration indicates sufficient interest to warrant maintaining the course. The announced courses are: business, English, business arithmetic, civil service in all its branches, bookkeeping, accounting, mechanical drawing and salesmanship.

An effort will be made to have the men who took Mr. Farrington's courses in accounting last year continue as far as possible in advanced work. Likewise, an advanced course will be formed in mechanical drawing with Mr. Flynn's class of last term as a nucleus. Beginners in mechanical drawing will be grouped together in a class. There will be classes formed for beginners in all the branches taught last year and bookkeeping which is new.

Registration will continue tonight and Friday at the school in the Associate building. Wednesday evening's enrollment was in charge of Grand Knight John E. Hart and Past Grand Knight George Brzezina.

In line with the policies laid down by the order the courses will be given each on a period of twelve weeks each. Each course will have two sessions a week and two hours each session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The League to Enforce Peace yesterday elected as its chairman Lawrence Lowell, president of the successors of Chief Justice William H. Taft, and voted to hold a national convention in Washington while the attainment conference was in session. The purpose of the convention, it was announced, was to emphasize the obligation of the United States in establishing world peace.

George W. Wickersham was elected chairman of the executive committee to succeed Mr. Lowell, who was appointed chairman of a committee to draft resolutions expressing the league's appreciation of Chief Justice Taft's efforts in its behalf.

Blackheads—the ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on your part of the body, go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this, mix in two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist—expensive little on a box, but space—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds. The result will be a good deal where the blackheads have been—calomel powder and the hot water have dissolved the blackheads. Flushing and squeezing will do nothing. The pores of the skin have them open and unsightly—and unless the blackheads are gone, they will not come out, while the calomel and water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin and pores clear. You can use calomel powder all your time, and if you are troubled with blackheads, try this simple method—now.

COLLEGE BARS "SHEBA"

MISS TERRY DITTE, COLLEGE BEAUTY, WHO HAD BEEN CAST IN TITLE ROLE FOR "QUEEN OF SHEBA" IN BARRED UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA DRAMA.

By N.E.A. Service
BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 20.—"The Queen of Sheba" has been dethroned as this year's production of the University of California English club. It has been decreed by the college authorities that there are certain characters and plots of the drama that, no matter how historically correct, are "dangerous" to the morals of the students. In other words, Sheba's queen is considered "too naughty" for a pretty co-ed to portray, and "unsuitable for college purposes." The young "intellectuals" have nothing to do but search for a new vehicle, although some of the proponents of the discarded drama have taken the stance that they have "passed the prudish period" and were merely trying to keep up with the tendency of the times in their selection.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS

Law Protects Hen Pheasants

—Season Extends From Today to Nov 20

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Warning that prosecution will follow the shooting of hen pheasants, during the hunting season, which opens today, has been issued by William C. Adams, director of the division of fisheries and game in the department of conservation.

The law permits the shooting of partridge and male pheasants, but the female of the latter species is protected. The season extends from Oct. 20 to Nov. 20, both inclusive, for male pheasants, partridge, quail and woodcock. Not exceeding two pheasants, three partridges, four quail and four woodcock may be taken in any one day, and not exceeding six male pheasants, fifteen partridges, twenty quail and twenty woodcock may be taken by any person during the entire open season. Dukes, Essex, Hampden, Middlesex and Nantucket counties are closed on quail shooting, and Dukes county is closed on male pheasants, as well as on females. Killing of pheasants, anywhere in the state, must be reported to the division of fisheries and game within twenty-four hours.

The season on hares and rabbits also opens today, and extends until Jan. 31 next. Five rabbits and two hares may be taken in one day. This applies to all counties except Dukes and Nantucket, where the open season on hares and rabbits will be from Nov. 15 to Feb. 15.

On gray squirrels the open season coincides with that on partridges, viz., it extends from Oct. 20 to Nov. 20. On these little animals there is a bag limit of five in one day and fifteen in a season.

No person may hunt without a license, and licenses may be obtained from the clerk of any city or town. These licenses, however, do not give the right to hunt on posted land, on state reservations, or within city limits.

Director Adams particularly requests hunters to exercise great care in the matter of fire, in order that there may be no development which will force the governor to declare a closed season.

HOYT.

NATHAN A. TUFTS BEFORE BAR COMMITTEE

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—For more than four hours yesterday afternoon and last evening Nathan A. Tufts, deposed district attorney of Middlesex county, accompanied by his attorney, Melvin M. Johnson, was before the grievance committee of the Middlesex Bar association, after which Mr. Tufts and Mr. Johnson left the committee, the former district attorney showing decided signs of nervousness and distress caused by the ordeal to which he had been subjected. Fletcher Rannay, who also appeared before the supreme court as counsel for Mr. Tufts in the removal proceedings, was not present.

The meeting of the grievance committee was held in the office of the chairman of the committee, Gilbert A. Pevey, room 203, 10 Court street, and all members of the grievance committee were present. They are besides Mr. Pevey, who is ex-city solicitor of Cambridge, Judge Prescott Kyles of Concord, Judge Henry C. Mulligan of Natick, Augustine J. Daly, ex-Mayor of Cambridge, and Frederick N. Wier, formerly assistant district attorney of Middlesex county.

Behind Closed Doors
The meeting was held behind closed doors. Mr. Tufts and Mr. Johnson arrived at Chairman Pevey's office promptly at 4 o'clock. They were accompanied by Mr. Tufts' stenographer, Miss Lulu Kearney, and immediately on their arrival the committee went into session.

What transpired behind those closed doors no one but those who were present knows, but at times there was much loud talk to be heard, even in the corridors, and when Mr. Tufts and Mr. Johnson, accompanied by Miss Kearney, came out, the ex-district attorney was flushed and appeared to be very much perturbed.

Mr. Tufts told the newspapermen that he had absolutely nothing to say, and when Mr. Johnson was asked for a statement he looked at his watch and replied:

"I have nothing to say beyond making the statement that we entered that office at 4 o'clock and it is now 8.15."

Speaking for the grievance committee, Chairman Pevey declared that nothing could be said at this time regarding what had taken place while Mr. Tufts was before the committee. He said that the committee would go into executive session and decide what its next step would be, and in reply to a question Mr. Pevey said he could not state whether Mr. Tufts would again be called before the committee. He added that Mr. Tufts is the only witness that the committee has heard so far.

Asked whether the committee had before them a transcript of the evidence offered at the Tufts trial, Mr. Pevey said they had not, but that they could procure a copy of the testimony at any time. He would not say whether the committee proposed to call any more witnesses.

No Statement as to Cause
Prior to the hearing the committee would make no statement regarding its general method of procedure in deciding whether they would petition for the disbarment of Mr. Tufts, and after the meeting last evening it would not state whether the supreme court findings against Mr. Tufts would be regarded as things already adjudicated.

The general belief among those familiar with the entire case was that Mr. Johnson would present arguments to the committee seeking to have that body begin anew in the collection of evidence in the case against the former Middlesex district attorney. Whether this course was followed by Mr. Johnson last night could not be learned.

There has been a feeling in certain legal circles that Mr. Tufts, when he appeared before the grievance committee, would tell a number of things that have not yet been brought to light, especially along the line of placing blame on the shoulders of lawyers who are alleged to have used their friendship to influence the actions of the ex-district attorney. But whether Mr. Tufts did this yesterday could not be learned last night.

From the statements made by members of the committee it appeared that in all probability that body will take its time in making up its mind what course it will follow, and that when it has reached a decision a report will be made to the Middlesex Bar association before anything regarding the recommendations of the committee is made public.

PLEASES JOHN D

$2500 REWARD FOR JEWELS

LENNON, Oct. 20.—A reward of $2500 has been offered by the insurance company which had issued a policy on the jewelry stolen from "Elm Court" villa, the home of Henry White, well known diplomat, on Oct. 10, it was learned here yesterday. The offer for the return of the jewels has been made public in New York city. Police officials who were called in to investigate the robbery, which netted about $25,000 worth of jewelry and private papers, were astonished at news of the reward offered for the return of the jewels, since Mr. White had previously offered a reward of $1000 for the arrest and conviction of the thieves. Local police officials had nothing to say as to this new aspect of the case save that they were surprised, and that there were "some features of the robbery which did not look right" to them. One of these was the return of Mr. White's papers on the night following the robbery.

HIDE STOLEN MONEY UNDER CHIEF'S PIAZZA

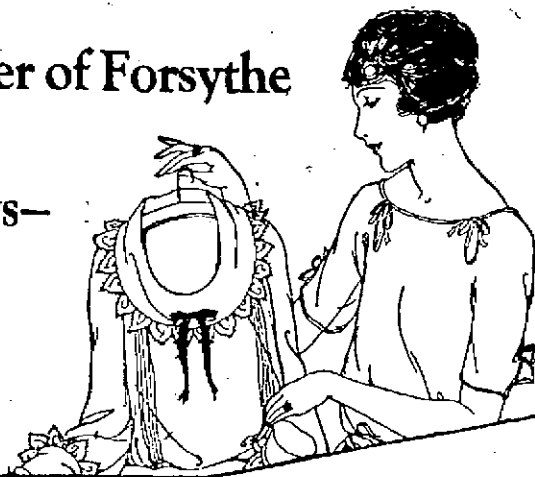

SANFORD, Me., Oct. 20.—Two local youths entered the home of Henry Siddle at 19 Laurel street, yesterday, extracted $15 from a bureau drawer and then went immediately to the home of Chief of Police George H. Boothby and hid the money under his piazza. Chief Boothby was blissfully unaware that his premises had been used as a cache for the swag until several hours later. Siddle reported the matter to the chief yesterday. The chief went to the Siddle home, looked the place over and then decided that the work was that of boys. By a process of elimination he finally fixed upon two Laurel street youths. They finally confessed and led the chief to his own home, on Laurel street, where to his great astonishment they dug up the swag.

Lever Bros. Co.,

Gentlemen:

Once in a while, a blouse is returned to us as unsatisfactory. We are sure of the material we use in making our blouses and we are sure of our workmanship. What we are not sure of is the treatment the blouse gets after it is in the hands of the owner.

If women would wash their blouses with Lux 90 percent of our complaints would disappear.

Frayed, pulled threads do not always mean a poor quality of silk, but a blouse that has been rubbed to get it clean. The thick Lux lather makes rubbing unnecessary.

The other day a crêpe de Chine blouse was returned to us which had "gone" under the arm. The owner had put away the blouse which was badly soiled with perspiration. The perspiration acids had eaten the silk, and a harsh soap and rubbing completed the destruction. If that blouse had been washed with Lux as soon as it was soiled, we would not have had the complaint.

For our own protection, we recommend the use of Lux in washing silks.

LAY PLANS TO MEET STRIKE

Eastern Railroads Not to Wait for Outcome of Chicago Conference

Continue Preparations as if They Expected Failure of Efforts to Avert Strike

Advertisements Calling for Help Prepared by All Roads Centering in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Proceeding as if they expected failure of the railroad labor board in its efforts to prevent the threatened railroad strike by a conference in Chicago today with "Big Five" brotherhood chiefs, members of the eastern presidents' conference met here today to lay plans

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quick a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs, croup, whooping cough, and all the ailments of the throat and chest. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens phlegm, lightens the throat, and then disappears altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

for meeting the strike on eastern and New England roads. Although they professed to see some hope of peace through the labor board's efforts, the railroad heads declared that with strike orders already issued, they could not afford to delay their plans to see what the Chicago conference would bring forth.

Meetings of the General Managers' association and the Association of Railway Executives also were scheduled. Advertisements calling for men to take the place of possible strikers have been prepared by all the railroads centering here and these, it was reported, would be given to newspapers during the day.

Several of the railroads have sent out circular letters to their employees, urging the men to think carefully before they join the proposed strike and not be "misled in this matter." One of these letters, after reciting advantages of employment on that line, inquired:

"Are you going to give up all this, your record and your seniority, at the behest of men who are going to be unable to find you another job to take the place of the one you now have? Remember, they can order you out—but can they order you back?"

The letter concluded with an argument that the strike was not against the railroads, but against the government as represented by the railroad labor board.

TO ADMIT SUGAR

DUTY FREE

HAVANA, Oct. 20.—Admission to the United States, duty free, of a maximum of 2,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar, yearly, for three years in return for the free entry into Cuba of "products of the soil and industry of the United States," is proposed in a joint resolution introduced today in the house of representatives. Action on the resolution went over until next Monday.

If the commercial treaty under which this exchange of commodities would be permitted is not ratified within eight months after negotiations are begun, the resolution would authorize the executive department to initiate proceedings to denounce the existing reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States, which became effective Dec. 27, 1903.

"X-Ray Sun" Worst Jungle Peril—"Sears the Soul," Says Man Back From East African Jungle

ORRIN DENNY AND WIFE, REUNITED AFTER THE EAST AFRICAN JUNGLE HAD SEPARATED THEM FOR TWO YEARS. DENNY FOUND THE DEPRESSION, BORN OF THE STRANGE SUN RAYS OF THAT COUNTRY, HIS GREATEST PERIL. INSET, BELOW, ARE SNAPS OF AN AFRICAN HORNBILL AND A LION CUB AND, ABOVE, ONE OF THE EXPEDITION'S CARTS.

BY GENE COHN
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—It's the sun that's most terrible—the piercing X-ray sun of the East African jungle—sun that melts spirit and soul while undermining strength and resistance.

One can battle lions, leopards, serpents, elephants—all the wild things—and after a time they present only minor hazards.

But the depression, the morbidity, the strange spirit-charring of the man-destroying rays—

There lies the real peril of the equatorial jungle.

Such is the picture drawn by Orrin Denny, back from two years spent in British East Africa and Ceylon in search of films of wild game. He headed a Universal Film-Smithsonian Institution expedition, marked in its career by tragedy. William Howells and Dr. Charles Armstrong, leaders of a first party, were killed in a train wreck and large quantities of film and equipment were lost.

Then Denny was sent in, and he has come out again with 45,000 feet of film after an almost heroic streak-to-the-death on the line of duty. Two years of jungle and bush is a long time when one presses on almost constantly, and it is a period filled with endless adventure.

Tragedy Many Risks

Once he nearly lost his life when charged by an elephant he sought to photograph. He was bowled over and severely injured. Once he was within three feet of a lion herd that had been lured into a clearing by the bait of zebra carcasses. They played in the moonlight like kittens, so close that he could have touched them with a gun barrel. But they did not see him.

These tales and a dozen more he tells as ordinary reminiscence, but when he speaks of the sun—that is different.

The hours, the days of terrible depression. Would he know his wife again—the wife he has just rejoined? Would he forget what she looked like, when this sun had finished with him? Possibly he had better write and tell her to wear a red ribbon on her hat, so that he could make no mistake.

Does Queer Things

Would he come up missing in the bush, or be reported missing? Would he be given up for dead and return to find an Enoch Arden situation?

All these fears so close and real in the shimmering bush—seemed on only so almost incomprehensible when they sat happily in a hotel room here talking of them, and laughing at them, as they went through his trunk preparatory to returning to their Hollywood home.

But she laughingly forgave him, for it is the sun and not the moon that sends its torments to the East African. As soon as he has recuperated, Denny will return. The "call" is another penalty man must pay for seeking to conquer the jungle.

"I shall take my wife with me next time," he smiled. "Of course I cannot take her everywhere, but she can wait me at Nairobi or Mombassa."

EXTENSIVE WORK FOR BRITONS PLANNED

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Following closely upon the British government's announced determination to aid in solving the unemployment situation by the extension of extraordinary large credits and the declaration that no
Briton is to starve, Premier Lloyd George delivered a notable address in parliament yesterday outlining the government's policy, both with regard to trade and unemployment.

The premier declared the entire situation was the result of the world war, and that a good understanding between nations, together with trade rehabilitation was the essential remedy for a cure.

In outlining the government's proposals to alleviate unemployment, Mr.
Lloyd George made the following declaration:

"Peace and a good understanding among nations is vital. Let us get out of the atmosphere where, if you talk about a German without a crown on your brow you are no patriot.
Trade cannot start in such an atmosphere. If you intervene to make peace, you must also intervene to make it. If Great Britain will not do it, who will? We stand for stability. We want to see the nations begin again the tasks of peace."

Plea for World Agreement

Mr. Lloyd George said the situation in England, as regards trade and unemployment is worse than at any time since the end of the Napoleonic wars.
At present, he said, there are 1,000,000 persons unemployed, and added that the greatest unemployment, to the extent of 17 per cent, is in the metal trades.

The entire speech of the premier was a plea that the country be suffering from the results of the war, and a declaration that restoration rests upon the revival of industry and the rehabilitation of the purchasing power abroad, and that a revival in trade depends largely upon the bringing about of a good understanding among nations.

Mr. Lloyd George spiritedly justified the steps the government already had taken to meet the unemployment problem. He contended that the British plan of imposing heavy taxation was much better than the means adopted by some countries—creating an artificial credit and producing a veritable boom to be followed speedily by serious reaction.

The premier said that the government proposed conditionally to guarantee interest on loans aggregating 25,000,000 pounds for use in capital undertakings, providing employment for the purchase of material for manufacturers, and also to allocate 10,000,000 pounds for the assistance of relief work, and later the establishment of a fund for workers' dependents.

Dolex Found Unsatisfactory

The premier argued that in the problem of unemployment relief work was unsatisfactory and the Dolex system worse. He admitted that to try to stimulate trade abroad would involve the government in some risk, but he declared it was better to take the risk than to stand still. The government, therefore, had decided to extend its efforts to other countries, including the British dominions.

He also proposed further assistance for state-aided emigration of former service men; the allocation of 10,000,000 pounds for relief work in forestry and drainage; additional assistance to the local authorities; to share in the interest on loans raised to start public works; and an extension of the benefits under the unemployment insurance by an additional levy of two pence.

In the course of his speech, Mr.
Lloyd George, referring to trade with Russia, said there had been no restrictions on the British side to such

The Gray Enamel Victory Crawford is the Easiest Range to Keep Clean

YOU know how hard it is to keep the ordinary stove looking clean, and black, and shining—how stove blacking soils your hands, and how much "elbow grease" it takes to put a nice polish on a stove.

But you can keep this new Gray Enamel Victory Crawford perfectly spotless by simply wiping it off with a damp cloth.
Hot water, soap, and a little ammonia will take off the grease and spots.

And remember, the Victory Crawford, in gray enamel, or black finish, gives you the double advantage of being able to use gas or coal, separately or together. You can broil and bake at one time with one burner using the right hand oven.

There is plenty of oven space—6½ square feet without the racks, and 13 square feet with them. From end to end, the Victory
Crawford is only 43 inches long.

When using both coal and gas, in addition to the ovens you can have nine kettles cooking all at once, four on the coal, five on the gas. When there's a big dinner to get, or at preserving time, you'll appreciate this generous capacity.

If you haven't yet seen the Victory
Crawford in its new gray dress, you can make its acquaintance at the store of any dealer who sells trading, but that the total trade for the first eight months of the present year had been only 3,150,000 pounds, which showed there was not an unlimited field in Russia for British or any other enterprise.

Concerning proposed guarantees of interest on loans raised by any dominion or colonial governments or any foreign government or local authorities for essential enterprises, such as electrification and waterways, which would provide immediate employment in the United Kingdom, the premier explained that the total liability of the government would be 25,000,000 pounds, and that a committee of men of high authority and knowledge would be created to administer the scheme.

In the debate following the premier's speech, ex-Premier Asquith said, in his judgment, the question of unemployment raised the necessity for reconsideration of the entire problem of international indebtedness, including the indebtedness of the allies to one another and the indebtedness of their late enemies to the allies.

STEPHENSON TESTIFIES
IN OWN BEHALF

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20.—The Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, the Methodist minister who is charged with second degree murder in connection with the killing of Dr. James E.
Corry, a Catholic priest, took the stand in his own defense late yesterday.

Dr. Corry, it has been alleged, was shot by Mr. Stephenson because of the latter's belief that his daughter Ruth was being wooed away by the Catholic church. On the day of the shooting, the witness said, he believed she had run away, but he was not aware that she had married Pedro Gussman, a Catholic.

Describing his visit to Dr. Corry,
he said:

"I told him my daughter was away from home, and I would appreciate it if he would tell me where she was.
He said he did not know anything about it."

Stephenson was preceded on the stand by his wife, who said that at the time of the shooting she did not know what her husband had done.
Gussman was brought into the courtroom during the day but was not examined. Attorneys for the defense said they just wanted the jurors to see him.

MOONSHINE IN BABY'S CRIB

BROCKTON, Oct. 20.—When Police
Lieut. Guerin and Inspector Grose raided the premises of Philip Soupolos at 225 Grove street Tuesday night, Soupolos pleaded with them not to awaken the baby, sleeping in a crib.

"Please, mister, don't wake up the baby," pleaded Soupolos. "He cry, cry all the time, and if he wakes up he no go to sleep again."

Lieut. Guerin took a peep under the coverlets and instead of the sleeping baby he found a keg containing eight gallons of moonshine. In the district

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Defendant Fined $30 for Assault and Battery—Other Cases

In the district court today, Alfred Couto of Alma street, was fined $30, which he paid, for assault and battery on Charles Monroe, on the morning of September 18. Monroe appeared in court with his face swathed in bandages, and spoke with difficulty from a witness stand. The plaintiff testified that he had been invited to the Couto home by the defendant's father, their residence being almost across the street from where Monroe lived. He admitted that he had several drinks together, and his leaving the house, he said, he was assaulted by Alfred Couto and struck on the jaw twice. He denied having drunk, and could not say whether the Coutos ordered him to leave, as he stated he was unable to understand their language, they being unable to speak English. A doctor connected with the Corporation hospital testified to having given Monroe medical attendance and described the extent of his wounds. He stated the plaintiff was obliged to remain at the hospital 16 days. Mr. Monroe told of the occurrence, stating that her attention to the affair was first called by a woman who, from the piazza of the Couto home, cried to her, "Come, see what your pig is doing." She described the assault and denied her husband was under the influence of liquor.

Jack Widlansky, in a continued case, was fined $10 for violating the milk laws. It was stated that he was a driver for a milk concern, but he informed the court he desired to assume full responsibility for the offense. The judge had previously expressed an opinion that the firm employing Widlansky could be held responsible.

Charles Abrahams appealed a three months' sentence to the house of correction for larceny. He was arrested in Fall River yesterday and brought to Lowell by Lieut. Palmer. The larceny case, turned by the court as "trick and fraud," was the result of a loan of $65 obtained from Louis Thomas, a victrola dealer left with the latter as security. The phonograph, however, several days later, was claimed by a local dealer, who testified today that he had given Abrahams the machine on two weeks' trial, but had not received a penny in payment. Abrahams, the dealer testified, had also "bought" a piano, but had refused to deliver it, no payment being made. Repeated efforts to obtain payments on the victrola proved fruitless, and the instrument dealer sold on the stand. Abrahams testified that he had given his wife money with which to pay for the victrola.

The court solemnly warned Albert Seales and filed an old charge of assaulting an officer. "You'll go to jail the next time," the judge admonished Seales.

A non-support charge against Izidor Pasterczyk was filed.

Urban A. Homer was arraigned for non-support, but the case was postponed to November 2, bail being fixed at $300.

Homer is the man who, when first in court two weeks ago, was found to be the center of a major motion picture, two women claiming to be his wives, appearing at a second arraignment. The case is now being investigated.

A complaint, alleging a violation of the automobile law against Thomas J. Mack, was withdrawn before the opening of court.

ANOTHER GREAT CROWD AT STEPHENSON TRIAL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 20.—Taking of testimony was expected to be completed today in the trial of the Rev. Edwin R. Stephenson, who is charged with second degree murder, in connection with the shooting of Fr. James E. Coyle, a Catholic priest.

The fourth day of the trial found another great crowd packed about the county building.

The session yesterday was brought to a dramatic close by the appearance before the jury of Pedro Gussman, who as a communicant of Fr. Coyle's church, was married to Stephenson's daughter by the priest.

Stephenson proceeding with his statement said he went to the rectory in search of his daughter, not knowing that she had been married. In conversation with the priest, he learned that his daughter had been married by Fr. Coyle to Gussman and he then told the priest: "You have treated me as dirty as a dog in marrying my daughter to a negro."

Mrs. Gussman in a preliminary hearing said her husband was a native of Porto Rico.

The witness said the priest grabbed and struck him. "I shot him then," said the minister.

FOR U. S. AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Harding's choice for American ambassador to Germany, a post expected to be filled soon after exchange of ratifications of the treaty of Berlin, was understood today to have narrowed down virtually to David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to that country, and Representative Anson B. Houghton of Corning, N. Y. Those in touch with the question expressed belief that the post would go to the latter.

Representative Houghton, a wealthy business man, has spent several years in Germany, giving him intimate knowledge of German affairs. He is a Harvard graduate and took post-graduate work at the universities of Berlin, Göttingen, and Paris.

ATTEMPT TO BURN COTTAGE HOUSE

Attempts to burn an unoccupied cottage at 25 Ray court, owned by Dr. Charles L. Sweetser, are being investigated by the police. The physician reported to the authorities today that workmen at the cottage on starting work yesterday morning discovered a smoldering fire in the cellar at the foot of the stairway and a pile of papers that had been burned in a corner of the cellar. The doctor can not account for the fire and believing it might be the work of incendiaries, notified the police. Inspectors who have been working on the case are unable, thus far, to say whether the fire have been the work of boys or of some person whose explicit intent was to destroy the building.

A silver coin is usually in currency for about 27 years.

Plot to Keep U. S. Ships From the Sea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—"Sinister influences have been at work in America for more than 100 years, to keep American ships from the sea," Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, declared today during debate on a resolution by Senator Poindexter, republican, Washington, calling for a complete accounting from the shipping board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote. Referring to various charges made against the shipping board since the war, Senator Underwood declared it was "unjust to the American people to allow the board to be made the battledore and shuttlecock for the people who want to destroy the American merchant marine."

"We should have a thorough investigation," the democratic leader continued. "If anything is wrong we should clear the decks and then give a helping hand in getting things straightened out."

Members of Netherlands Delegation

THE HAGUE, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The delegation of The Netherlands to the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions will be headed by H. A. Van Kureneek, the foreign minister, it was learned today. The other two members of the delegation are Jonkheer F. Beelaerts Van Bloekland, chief of the division of diplomatic affairs of the foreign office, and Dr. B. Moresco, secretary general of the colonial office.

N. E. Governors Discuss Impending Strike

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Committees representing the governors of the New England states met at the state house here today to consider problems likely to develop from a railroad strike. Plans for assuring movements of food and fuel and of setting up supplementary transportation services, were considered. Governor Cox addressed the conference and information regarding stocks of food and fuel on hand in this state obtained by the commission on the necessities of life was laid before the delegates by Howard Conoley, chairman of the Massachusetts committee.

Three Women Killed on R. R. Crossing

BALDWIN, Me., Oct. 20.—Three women were killed and two others critically and possibly fatally injured today when a small sedan was struck by a west bound passenger train on the Mountain division of the Maine Central railroad at Matlock's Station.

Family Flee From Fire; $100,000 Loss

DARIEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—The residence of James A. Trowbridge at Collender's Point, was burned at daybreak, the family leaving in their night attire. The loss is placed at $100,000. The police believe the fire was incendiary.

O'Dea Case Continued

Q. Did you see Allard hand him any money?

A. No. I saw O'Dea hand money to Allard.

Cross-examined by Lawyer Shea, witness said his name is Rousseau, but in Lowell he is commonly called Brooks. He said he is sole owner of the business at 45 Moody street, which is in a building owned by Allard. He said shortly before November, 1920, O'Dea went to him and said he could take care of him. He understood that he meant that as a federal officer, he could cause trouble for him.

Q. Were you at that time, dealing in the intoxicating liquor business?

A. Rousseau refused to answer the question and was sustained by the court.

Q. On November 1, he came back again and had some talk with you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. He said he wanted to buy an auto?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. He said he wanted you to contribute $100?

A. Yes, but I offered him $50.

Q. Did he accept it?

A. No, sir, he wanted $100.

Q. Did you give it to him?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. After you paid him $100 you did not see him again in your place until Dec. 31?

A. He might have come in, but I do not remember.

Witness then said O'Dea was in his place of business on Dec. 31 with Officers Clark and Moore.

Q. Did you testify before that O'Dea dashed in and jumped over the bar?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Was there anyone in the store at the time?

A. Three or four.

Q. Have you any employees?

A. One, George Polier.

Rousseau denied having any talk with O'Dea when he jumped over the bar. O'Dea did not say what he wanted, but he, Rousseau, had an idea what he wanted.

Q. Did you see Allard go downstairs with O'Dea?

A. Yes, sir.

Continuing, witness said Allard and O'Dea had some talk in the cellar, but he could not make out what they were saying. When the two returned upstairs, O'Dea went out with the officers, and later returned alone.

He went into the back of the shop and passed money over to Allard.

Questioned by the United States assistant district attorney, Rousseau said he is called Brooks by some people, as it is the English translation of his name, but he has never signed his name Brooks.

WHY PENN. RAILROAD IGNORED ORDER

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The Pennsylvania, through C. S. Hsienman, general counsel, presented to the railroad labor board today a lengthy statement signed by President Samuel Rea, setting forth the road's reasons for refusing to comply with the board's order and call a new election of employees' committees.

The board set aside a previous election because the road allowed the men to vote only on individuals, while the federated shop crafts insisted the name of their local should appear as a committee.

Mr. Rea's statement said that the election "raised the question whether the employees representation plan developed by the road should be impaired and its usefulness largely destroyed by dealing with those who advocated a closed shop, the sympathetic strike, and limitation of output in framing rules governing operation of the shops during federal control."

The rules formulated while the government directed the roads reduced the output of shop labor at least 35 per cent, the statement declared.

Ben W. Hooper, public member of the labor board, examined Mr. Hsienman, reading from a typewritten list of questions.

WORLD IS BEING TRIED

Dr. Farrand Says America Must Accept Share of International Responsibility

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—A plea for America to accept her share of international responsibility was made today by Dr. Livingston Farrand in his inaugural address as president of Cornell university. "Unless as Americans we accept our share of this responsibility, disaster is inevitable," he said.

Taking as his theme the critical situation in which European civilization finds itself after the war, Dr. Farrand said:

"The logic of the situation is entirely clear. The world is being tried as with fire. Society is in revolution. Our civilization is not only under indictment, it is fighting for very existence."

"Solution is not to be reached by local adjustment. Acceptance of international responsibility is unavoidable. Dogmatism and intolerance, whether national or individual, will be fatal. An informed citizenship—a citizenship imbued with the ideals of true democracy and that spirit and habit of service without which democracy cannot stand—is indispensable."

"It is a long struggle in which we are engaged. It is to the rising generation that the world must turn for help. It is to a youth trained to see clearly, to view broadly, to judge fairly and to act fearlessly that we must look for better things. The responsibility for his production lies most heavily upon our organized foundations of learning."

"In our present situation they are the saving institutions of society. No responsibility could be more grave—no opportunity could be more inspiring. It was for leadership in such emergencies that the great sisterhood of universities represented here today has been established."

"To assume its part of the burden and to discharge its share of this responsibility, Cornell resolutely sets its face, confident of the outcome—more confident than ever of the inspired wisdom of its founders—and confident first and last in the vitality of those ideals of individual opportunity of liberty and justice upon which our American democracy is founded."

NO ARRESTS MADE HERE YESTERDAY

The cell keepers at the local police station had very little to do yesterday, as not a single arrest murred a day of perfect behavior, Supt. Welch and Deputy Downey were particularly proud of the day's record. "I guess we've cleaned out most of the hooch in the city," said the deputy in commenting that not even a drunken offender was taken.

HONORARY DEGREES FOR MARSHAL FOCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Members of the American Legion here who are making arrangements for the visit of Marshal Foch to the United States, expressed belief today that he might rival Mme. Curie in the number of honorary degrees received from American colleges and universities. Legion headquarters announced that he would receive an honorary degree at Yale on Nov. 12, when he will attend the Yale-Princeton football game. He will visit Harvard on November 14, and Princeton on Nov. 15, and it is presumed degrees will be conferred by both universities.

NEW GOWNS JUST OVER FROM PARIS

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—One touch of embroidery makes the whole world kin.
At least so it seems from the way the gay colors of Balkan states, Czechoslovakia and Russia are introduced into our fashion modes. The original Paul Poiret afternoon gown of brown moire, on the right, is made along lines which accentuate the waist line.
There is something suggestive of the peasant costume about this, the touch of embroidery furthering this impression, although the gown is strictly the dernier cri from Paris.

The short sleeves and the choker collar are edged with fur, the same continuing down the front of the bodice.
The red velvet evening gown from Poiret, on the left, is the most daring creation that has come from the famous Paris houses this season. The waist is strapless as well as low. The full skirt of red velvet is edged with fur. The bodice, what there is of it, is of silver embroidery, as are the cord and tassels.

TELLS OF THEFTS OF FOOD SUPPLIES

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Thefts of food supplies sent to Russia by the American relief administration have been very small, says a letter from Walter Lyman Brown, European director of the administration, which is quoted by today's London Times. The letter concerns primarily reports that the Russians took large quantities of supplies sent to Petrograd on board the English steamer Phoenix, and Mr. Brown declares the loss occasioned by the action of longshoremen there was only slightly more than one-half of one per cent. of the cargo. He adds that this loss could not "by any stretch of imagination be called looting."

The largest watercress farm in the world is at Enghien, near Paris.

Visiting Week at Local Exchange—Interesting Story of Its Equipment

No one in Lowell who ever has occasion to use the telephone should miss the opportunity afforded this week to inspect the various departments of the local exchange of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company. It is amazing that so many things of absorbing interest and so confined in one building, and the efficiency in each and every department is little short of marvelous.

On entering the building you are courteously greeted and conducted to the basement, where the tour of inspection must begin in order that you may thoroughly understand the workings of the entire system. Here you are told that although the power ordinarily used to run the generators is supplied by the Lowell Electric Light Corp., it is necessary to maintain an auxiliary gas engine for use in emergency. This engine is situated directly at the foot of the basement stairs. If it should ever happen that neither the electric nor gas power was available, the gas engine, which is kept at all times on a truck at the Boston exchange, could be rushed here at a moment's notice, ready to take up the burden of running the generators. In another section of the basement are located the storage batteries, charged daily, and never allowed to discharge more than twenty points. An extra set of batteries are kept for the tall business. Probably the most interesting section of the basement is the cable vault, through which all the wires connected with the exchange must pass on their way to the various sections of the city. There are 115 miles of these wires, all enclosed in cables, the largest cables containing 200 pairs of wires, all closed in cables, the largest cables containing 200 pairs of wires. The company plans in the near future to introduce a new type of cable, containing 1000 pairs of wires. The new cable will be no larger than the old type, but the wires will be 24 gauge instead of 19, the gauge which is now in use. Engineers of the company have proven that 24-gauge wires are satisfactory for telephone work. All the wires are paper insulated.

On the first floor, near the street entrance, the cables ascend to the main distributing frame. Here each line is equipped with a pair of carbons and a pair of heating coils. Each carbon contains a piece of fusible metal, which will melt should a heavy current connect the carbons, grounding the line in the ground plate pier. The carbons are separated by a mica about 1-12th of an inch in thickness. The heating coils connect the cables to the cross-wiring on the main distributing frame. These coils also operate on a sneak current such as might be caused by contact with a telegraph, police or fire alarm wire. A sneak current passing through the coils has a tendency to heat, causing the fusible metal to follow a pin to slip through and connect with a spring, which is forced against the ground plate. Thus the wires are protected against heavy currents and accidental contacts. On the main side of the frame the subscribers' multiple begins. At this point any line may be changed from one section of the city to the other in a very simple manner, by means of a cross-wiring. There are 6359 available lines on this frame, about 6300 of which are now in use. Every connection is soldered, making 50,000 connections on the main frame. On the intermediate distributing frame, which is situated to the rear of the main frame, the lines may be wired to any section of the switchboard which the chief operator desires. All pay-station, prepayment, measured service and unlimited service lines are grouped together. The lines are connected to answering jacks on the intermediate distributing frame, which are cabled to the switchboard. The circuits in the building are protected by fuses of from 1/2 to 5 amperes, and if anything goes wrong with them a signal bell is sounded by an operation of the fuses and continues to sound until the trouble is remedied. A vacuum tube repeater, one of the newer inventions by the telephone company's engineers, is used on long trunk connections in the local exchange, connecting the New York and Portland circuits. By its use the transmission is practically the same as in a local call, enabling the parties on either end to hear each other as distinctly as if they were talking from different sections of the same city. All lines to outlying exchanges pass through the toll-test board, which is used to locate service trouble. This board also affords an opportunity to transfer any toll line to any other toll line in case of a breakdown. The Associated Press lines in the exchange are also under the supervision of the toll-test board, as are the leased wires for brokers' offices and the ticker service. When trouble is reported the trouble operator secures the line card from the cabinet, makes a note of the trouble and passes it along to the test board. The line card gives the name and address of the subscriber, equipment of subscriber's premises, the cable, terminal and conductors; also when the apparatus was installed and time, date, names of men sent to repair the trouble, time sent and time the repair was O.K'd. The test men then trouble the line and send out the men who are assigned to the district in which it occurs. There are usually about 125 complaints of this nature each day, and on an average not more than half a dozen lines are out of order at the end of the day, except in case of a severe thunder storm or heavy rain. In the line assignors' department, when an application is received for telephone service the line assigners are consulted on the ability of the company to give the required service. In this department are kept all the plans of block plans and cable cuts showing conductors in use through the cables. They are able to reach a decision in a short time. All message-rate subscribers are now connected to a relay which registers every call obtained by operating a key after connection has been established. A large battery is on duty 24 hours a day, ringing all bells in the city, and another, a perfect duplicate, is ready for an emergency.

The upper floors are much more familiar to the average person. The operating room, where all calls are handled, is of absorbing interest. The information operators, with their complete lists of subscribers, indexed in various ways, local calls are attended most efficiently. The local board, where with its seemingly hopeless tangle of cord and plugs, and the other boards where the various kinds of calls are received, are all calculated to make the casual visitor wonder that there are so few causes of the plain in the service. One of the points which is given the greatest emphasis deals with jiggling the hook which the party making the call wishes to attract the operator's attention. As a matter of fact, a too rapid motion of the hook gives no signal whatever, while one slow movement does the trick.

The accounting room on the top floor is a model of efficiency. Here one is shown all the latest and best modern appliances for office work, and the clerks handle an amazing volume of business without any great effort.

The lounging room and lunch room are interesting places to visit, showing the company looks after its help pretty thoroughly. Altogether, a visit to this exchange is decidedly worth while, and one cannot help being impressed by the astonishing amount of detail involved in supplying us with telephone service.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all our kind friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness and spiritual offerings during our recent bereavement. We will ever remember their kindness. MRS. MARY E. SPENCER and Family.

RAIN-WASHED LEAVES CHOKED SEWERS

The sewers are once more giving trouble. This time it is because of the heavy rains of last night which washed the leaves into catch basins. Commissioner Murphy said he had about 25 complaints today of defective sewers. City Engineer Kearney was out early investigating the causes.

Mr. Murphy says the sewers will give trouble in this manner until a large enough force of men can be had to look after them. He says at the present time he has only four crews of three men each to look after this work.

He said, "I have requested every year for more men to look after this work. I do not seem to be able to get them. The force is no larger now than it was 20 years ago despite the fact that four or five hundred additional catch basins have been put in."

"This morning I have about 20 complaints of sewers being stopped up. It is because the rains have washed leaves into the catch basins. I have to take part of my men from other jobs and put them on to this work. We will attempt to get things in working order at once."

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, Helen F. Carey, who departed this life October 20, 1921.

When we think of you, dearest mother,
When our hearts are sad with pain,
Oh! this world would be heaven
If we could hear your voice again.
Rest on, dear mother, we are coming,
We will meet you, bye and bye.
Shall we find you standing waiting
At these golden gates on high?
By her daughter and family,
JOSEPHINE CAREY BUTLER.

GIRLS' CITY CLUB
Because of a change in schedule, classes in dressmaking, millinery, home nursing and handwork will be held Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 at the Girls' City club, instead of the night originally arranged. The first classes will be held Tuesday evening, October 25.

Friday evening, October 21, there will be a supper and theatre party for the cast of "Springtime" and the other members of the Girls' City club. Supper will be served at the club rooms, where a jolly time is promised to those attending. Those expecting to attend should notify Miss Sullivan, telephone 5325, at the club, before Friday noon.

Armistice Day Exercises
request the street and steam railways to co-operate in this period of silence.

The exercises will be held in Monument square in front of city hall and will open at 11:55 with a salute fired by a battery. The salute will last until 12 o'clock. The gathering will be presided over by Stephen C. Garrity, vice commander of the local post. The first number on the program will be the singing of America by the company.

Rev. William J. Mahan, O.M.L., chaplain of the local post, American Legion, will invoke the blessing.

The president's proclamation will be read by Commander James J. Powers. Mayor Perry D. Thompson will then make a short address.

A roll call of the members who died in the service and since then will be called by John J. Walsh, state historian.

The two minutes' silent period will then be held. Benediction will be given by Rev. Arthur J. McGilfert, Jr., pastor of All Souls church.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of John J. Walsh, chairman; Joseph H. McGuire, Stephen C. Garrity, John T. McDermott and James P. McGready.

Hope to Avert Big Tieup

morning and went into conference preparatory to their meeting this afternoon with the United States Railroad labor board.

Union headquarters was optimistic and there was a strongly evident feeling that there would be no strike unless something unexpected occurred to disrupt the conference.

Despite the optimism in brotherhood circles, J. M. McGrath, vice president of the Railway Employees department, American Federation of Labor, (the six federated shop crafts) declared before the labor board hearing in the Pennsylvania case that a strike seemed to him to be certain. The shop crafts have voted to strike, but have not issued strike orders.

Twenty-two railroads have violated labor board decisions, McGrath said, and the men are insistent on walking out.

Present at the union conference were Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen; and T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The 11 "standard" unions marked time today awaiting the outcome of the labor board meeting. While a few of their general chairmen met to discuss strike plans, the majority crowded the hearing rooms of the labor board to see the Pennsylvania railroad cited for failure to obey the board's orders.

Important Conferences

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press) Leaders of the Big Five railroad brotherhoods met today with the railroad labor board in a secret informal conference to air their grievances which led to the strike call for October 30, while chairman of most of the 11 other principal railroad unions were deciding whether they also would call a walkout to complete the proposed transportation tieup.

Labor board members were optimistic over prospects of an adjustment of the brotherhood members' complaints, but no plans had been announced for discussing with railroad executives the board's program to avert the strike by temporarily maintaining the present wage level and reducing freight rates.

Far to the conference with the brotherhoods, the board had scheduled a hearing with Pennsylvania railroad representatives on charges of violation of a board decision requiring a new election of shop crafts representatives. This case is the first of its kind to come before the board and is expected to establish the extent of the board's power in enforcing its decisions under the transportation act.

Plans to operate passenger, mail and milk trains were being pushed by railroad executives, in event the strike takes place, with resumption of freight traffic as fast as men can be secured. From the ranks of men recently laid off, pensioners, loyal veterans, and others with railroad experience, railroad officials here declared they could recruit nearly a half million men. Roads entering New York were advertising for men to fill positions which may be vacated and roads entering Chicago are expected to take the same course within the next few days.

Between August, 1920, and June, 1921, the number of railroad employees decreased by 611,651, according to figures the interstate commerce commission and more than 50,000 of these were train service men.

New Ministry in Control at Lisbon

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—After a bloodless revolution in Portugal a new ministry has been formed and is in full control at Lisbon, it is stated in despatches received at the Portuguese legation here today.

vanla and Erie railroads today advertised in the newspapers for workmen in the event of a strike. The Pennsylvania sought applications to fill places made vacant by such men as may leave the service. The Erie specified such places as may be vacant November 1, and offered permanent positions at standard wages.

VLADIVOSTOK PREMIER OUTLINES PROGRAM

VLADIVOSTOK, Sept. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The watchword of the Vladivostok government's program is protection of the territorial integrity of Russia; protection of the sovereign rights of the Russian people and friendship with those states which would help in the building up of a national Russia the premier of the government said in an address to the national assembly.

"As weak as we are," he continued, "we will find a way to defend our national honor and dignity, and we will reject all attempts to sell or barter part of our territory. Nationalism in Russia is regenerated and the time is come when communism will be crushed out."

The premier affirmed that he could see no difference between soviet Russia and the far eastern republic and declared that he recognized neither the one nor the other. He added:

"The existence of these organisms brings Russia to disaster and weakness, therefore we will fight them to the end. There can be no agreement with those who reject God, conscience and national ideals, and destroy the personal dignity of mankind. Peace or agreement with those who hold the people in chains of slavery is impossible for us."

The premier expressed the opinion that Japan would not take her troops from Siberia.

"The government of the United States," he said, "has been little critical of the policy of the communists, and the scheme is regarded as sound and workable. Committees are being established to deal with the prime minister's proposals."

It is understood the government offered to leave the management of the credit system to leading bankers, but the latter decided it could be managed better by a committee which would work under the auspices of the overseas trade department. The bankers have given assurance of future assistance, however, and conferences held so far have been of the most cordial nature.

GOVERNORS TO ACT ON UNEMPLOYMENT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 20.—Unemployment will be one of the subjects before the annual conference of governors, which will be held at Charleston, S. C., on Dec. 5. It was announced today by Miles C. Riley, secretary.
